Summit Talk Centers On Britain's Nuclear Missile Power Future

Polish Airliner Explodes

Other Topics Cast Aside In Bermuda

Macmillan-JFK Seek Way To End Skybolt Question

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP)—President Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan unexpectedly shoved aside all other issues Wednesday to concentrate on a search for a formula to end their painful dispute over Britain's future as a nuclear missile power.

The issue, arising over an evident U.S. decision to scrap the Skybolt missile, has become a focus of all the hard feelings currently embittering the U.S.-British alliance.

Kennedy and Macmillan—each attended by a panel of experts—met in a seaside villa of this sunny British resort island in midmorning and grappled with the Skybolt row immediately.

Their discussion spilled over into a working lunch at Macmillan's house and went on into the afternoon.

Other Topics Wait

It knocked out for the time being consideration of the whole range of cold war issues in the aftermath of the Cuban crisis, the Indian military aid program which is a major problem of the Nassau meeting, and the possibility of a new crisis in the Congo.

The President and the prime minister had held an hour-long, man-to-man private talk Tuesday afternoon. Presumably they got onto the Skybolt controversy at that time.

Wednesday, Kennedy and Macmillan were accompanied by their aides.

Bitter Controversy

The Skybolt controversy is unusually bitter because the British have appeared to handle it in part as an issue of good faith. American officials dispute this view, but relations between Washington and London have seldom been so disturbed in recent years.

The Skybolt program is the basket into which the British government decided several years ago to put all its nuclear eggs. The 1,000-mile-range missile is designed for launching from a jet bomber. The future of Britain's Vulcan bomber force has been justified in terms of Skybolt.

The missile development program has been a major U.S. project, with some British participation. But it is only one U.S. project, whereas the British choice has been for Britain—with its more limited resources—Skybolt or nothing.

Since Kennedy and McNamara have obviously decided that Skybolt is too complicated and not as effective as other U.S. missile systems, the problem between Kennedy and Macmillan was to find some way to prevent the change in American plans from crippling Britain's future nuclear power position.

U.S. officials said several alternatives were under consideration. There has been persistent speculation that Macmillan might get the highly advanced Polaris missile as a substitute.

Former Senator Enters Hospital

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—Former Sen. Theodore Francis Green, oldest member ever to serve in the U.S. Senate, was admitted to Jane Brown Hospital unconscious Wednesday afternoon.

The 95-year-old Green had been stricken at his home. He was not a candidate in 1960 for re-election to the Senate of which he had been a member for 24 years.

200th Nuclear Missile Aimed At Russia

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States aimed its 200th nuclear-tipped intercontinental ballistic missile at the Soviet Union on Wednesday. Authorities say this provides the nation with at least twice the estimated strength of the Soviet Union's ICBM force.

This mark was reached when the Air Force turned over to its Strategic Air Command a 12-missile squadron of Atlases at the Plattsburgh Air Force Base in Upstate New York.

The Plattsburgh squadron completes the planned Atlas force and winds up the first phase of the U.S. missile armament program slightly ahead of schedule.

Just a few years ago, critics of defense policies under the Eisenhower administration were forecasting a missile gap would develop about this time, with the United States on the short end of a 2-1 or 3-1 margin.

But most qualified authorities believe the Russians have only between 75 and 100 ICBMs at this time.

Some experts suggest the Soviet Union did not expand its ICBM capability as fast as expected, in part because of scarce resources and the competing demands of space exploration.

Each of the 12 Atlas missiles at Plattsburgh is assigned a target in the Soviet Union, as are all U.S. long-range missiles and bombers.

Russia-China Rift Widens

LONDON (UPI) — The rift between the Soviet Union and Communist China widened Wednesday and diplomatic reports said chances of a settlement were receding.

In Moscow the Communist party newspaper Pravda attacked Pekin by name for opposing Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's policy of "peaceful co-existence."

The Pravda report was the third time in two weeks the Peking regime was accused openly of trying to split the Communist world and of clinging to outmoded Stalinist practices which include the belief that war between communism and capitalism is inevitable.

Brazil Faces Many Grave Problems

U.S. Concerned With Future Of Big Neighbor

WASHINGTON (AP) — Grave concern over the future of Brazil—stemming both from its raging inflation and increasing economic ties with the Communist world—is seeping through official Washington from President Kennedy on down.

Doubts about the intentions of Brazil's leaders in attempting to navigate such a dangerous sea lie at the root of the concern.

And the role of Latin America's potentially most powerful nation in the cold war could be involved.

The economic problems, which are manifold and grave, admittedly can be alleviated with U.S. help.

But the question that is being raised with increasing frequency is, "What would one more bail-out of the Brazilian economy accomplish in the light of the many other doubts that exist?"

It is in this context that observers here are interpreting the sudden trip Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy made to Brazil two days ago.

The consensus is that the President's brother went there not only to express the U.S. administration's point of view, but to get some definite answers about Brazilian intentions from President Joao Goulart.

The answers which are being sought here fall into two categories—economic and political.

In the economic field, the impression here is that the U.S. administration is willing to wait, although with some skepticism, for the financial restructuring that has been promised after the Jan. 6 plebiscite in Brazil. The voting is expected to return the nation to a presidential system of government.

Brazilians contend that when the parliamentary system was introduced following the resignation in 1961 of President Janio Quadros and the accession of Goulart, the presidency was left without sufficient powers to carry out needed reforms.

Since that time, little if anything appears to have been done to attempt to solve the economic situation, which has been worsening steadily.

The political questions, however, are what give rise to the doubts, uncertainty and confusion.

In the forefront is the uncertainty about the direction of Brazil's foreign policy, which the Brazilians call "independent," but which, viewed from Washington, sometimes appears to be leaning toward a dangerous type of neutralism.

Administration circles here have noted with some alarm what appears to be a misconception on the part of the Goulart government about the nature of the over-all East-West struggle.

This was exemplified during the recent Cuban crisis when Brazil attempted to act as a "mediator" between the United States and the Fidel Castro regime, completely misjudging the fact that the situation had long ceased to be a U.S.-Cuba dispute and had become a direct confrontation between the United States and the Soviet Union.

Gen. Truman Talks Congo With U Thant

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The head of a Congo-bound U.S. military mission said he had a productive meeting Wednesday with Secretary-general U Thant on supplying U.S. military equipment to the U.N. Congo force.

Lt. Gen. Louis Truman told reporters he would meet here again Thursday with Robert K. A. Gardiner, who is Thant's chief officer in the Congo, and Ralph J. Bunche, U.N. undersecretary who specializes in Congo matters.

Asked about reports that the Soviet Union was making a bid for influence in the Congo, Truman replied: "My mission has nothing to do with that whatsoever. It is strictly military."

It had been reported previously that the eight-man military mission would leave for the Congo tonight, but Truman said there was no definite departure date.

He said the mission will remain in the Congo for perhaps five to seven days.

Asked if the United States had any plans to send troops to the Congo, he answered: "No plans that I know of."

Truman described members of the U.S. mission going to the Congo with him as specialists in planning, logistics and equipment.

A state department official in Washington said earlier a principal purpose of the mission would be to assess the ability of the 18,000-man Congo force to maintain law and order.

The official said the United States would not be sending troops, but he did not rule out shipment of U.S. arms.

Miss Universe, 1960 Is Wed To Jockey

ROME (AP)—Linda Bement of Utah, Miss Universe of 1960, and Panamanian jockey Manuel Ycaza were reported Wednesday to have been married last Sunday.

Informants at the Panamanian embassy said the couple left on a honeymoon in Switzerland and France. They plan to return to Santa Anita race track in California on Dec. 26.

"It was a very private wedding ceremony and only a few close friends attended," said the sources.

23 Prisoners Die In Riot At Buenos Aires

Guards Run Amock After Wanted Men Try To Kill Boy

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Shouting "We are the judges!" prison guards ran amok and killed 23 convicts—some cringing in their cells—to avenge the slaying of 10 colleagues in an attempted jailbreak.

The blood-bath raged for 15 hours through Tuesday night in the Villa de Voto Penitentiary as more than 100 guards went wild after crushing 400 mutinous convicts.

Col. Miguel Angel Paiva, director of penal institutes, pleaded vainly to restrain the guards who went on their rampage after he had announced at 10:20 p.m., that the mutiny was over.

Shoot Ring Leaders

The guards charged through the cell blocks searching out the ringleaders of the riot.

"If you don't want me, I cannot continue," said the chief warden in a tone of hopelessness. He said he was resigning.

Screams and shots rang through the overcrowded old prison holding 2,100 men—some hardened criminals—until 4 a.m. and created terror in the usually quiet surrounding residential neighborhood.

Killed Ten Guards

Hugo Uran Lujan, 29, common thief accused of masterminding the attempted break, had confessed to a judge who served as an intermediary during the riot that he had killed 10 guards and wounded five others.

Uran Lujan and five other prisoners plotted their escape with makeshift smuggled weapons. Authorities said they apparently counted on help from the outside.

When the escape plan faltered they fired on guards and seized 20 hostages, including a prison chaplain.

Officials said, despite the confusion, not a prisoner escaped.

Vietnamese Open Attack On Rebels

SAIGON (UPI)—The Vietnamese army opened a major offensive Wednesday against Communist Viet Cong guerrillas in the Duong Minh Chau forest 50 miles north of Saigon and near the borders of Cambodia. First reports indicated no success.

Further south in Binh Long province a second operation launched Tuesday was more successful and 20 Viet Cong were reported killed in a battle near the village of Minh Thanh. No deaths among government rangers were reported.

Wednesday's operation involved 1,500 paratroopers in camouflaged uniforms and an unannounced number of infantry and ranger units. They were searching the dense forest for Communist guerrillas but apparently the Viet Cong slipped away into the jungles. No casualties were reported on either side.

The operation began when assault waves of paratroopers were flown into strike zones 10 miles east of Ba Den (Black Virgin) Mountain in Tay Ninh province by 25 U.S. Army H21 helicopters.

Donovan Flies Back To Miami To Check On Ransom Goods

MIAMI (UPI) — James B. Donovan flew here Wednesday night from Havana presumably with Premier Fidel Castro's answer to the exchange of 1,113 Cuban invasion prisoners for a ransom of food, drugs and medical supplies worth millions of dollars.

But the New York attorney's arrival was shrouded in secrecy.

His chartered Pan American airliner landed at an unannounced part of Miami's International Airport and Donovan was not seen.

The Federal Aviation Agency said at first it did not know whether Donovan's plane had arrived. Then it announced at 8:25 p.m. EST that the plane had set down at about 7:55 p.m.

Pan American declined to say beforehand where Donovan's plane would land.

Received Reply

Before leaving Havana, Donovan had announced that he had received the reply from Castro. He also said earlier Wednesday in Havana that he would return to Cuba Thursday, apparently to provide Castro with an up-to-the minute list of the items being readied for shipment to Cuba when the deal is complete.

During the day thousands of items of the proposed ransom stockpile were pouring into Florida by plane and truck under direction of the American Red Cross.

Red Cross officials in Washington said the supplies being donated by U.S. firms would total about $53 million in value but that the cost for the total operation, including labor and transportation, would run well over $70 million.

Castro had originally asked for $62 million in cash for the prisoners taken in the abortive Bay of Pigs invasion in April, 1961.

Authorities in Washington indicated the tentative plan was to get about 20 per cent of the ransom supplies underway to Cuba as soon as completion of the exchange was announced. The prisoners then would probably be released and U.S. authorities would have more time to deliver the rest of the ransom goods.

In the statement released in Havana, Donovan said he and negotiators for the Cuban Families Committee met Tuesday night "with Premier Castro and other high government officials.

Brotherhoods Lose Appeal On Featherbedding

CHICAGO (UPI) — A federal Appeals Court Wednesday denied five unions a rehearing of its decision that the nation's railroads have a right to make sweeping changes in rules governing more than 200,000 on-train employes' working conditions.

The U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals rejected the five brotherhoods' petition for reconsideration of the case and their arguments that they were denied due process of law in the Appeals Court's Nov. 28 decision.

The court on Nov. 28 agreed with a U.S. District Court that some 190 railroads were legally free to make "anti-featherbedding" work rules changes that eventually would abolish the jobs of 65,000 to 80,000 on-train workers.

The unions have indicated they will carry the case to the U.S. Supreme Court, a move that could delay for several months a showdown in the three-year-old controversy over proposals to drastically overhaul the industry's work rules structures.

Longshoreman V-P Dies In Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP)—August C. Idzik, first vice president of the International Longshoremen's Association, died Wednesday in his home of a heart attack. He was 56.

Idzik had returned from the ILA bargaining sessions in New York with Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz Tuesday night.

A requiem mass will be said Saturday at 10 a.m. at St. Stanislaus Church. Burial will be at Oakland Cemetery in Baltimore County.

33 Aboard Viscount Die At Warsaw

Plane Crashes And Burns At Okecie Airport

By S. L. KRUPPA

WARSAW (UPI) — A Polish LOT Airlines turbo-prop Viscount plane crashed and exploded on landing at nearby Okecie Airport Wednesday night, killing all 33 persons aboard in what airport authorities called the worst accident in the airline's history.

They said 28 passengers and five crewmen aboard the four engine plane died when it plunged to the ground near the end of a runway and burst into flames on impact.

The plane crashed about 7:30 p.m. on a flight from Brussels via East Berlin. Witnesses said the weather was good.

Airport sources said only Poles and Belgians were aboard the plane. The worst previous reported crash of a Polish airliner occurred before World War II when 16 persons were killed in Bulgaria during a flight to the Middle East, according to authorities.

Okecie Airport is the main Warsaw landing field. It is about 7½ miles outside the city.

The Viscount was one of three bought by LOT from the British manufacturers, the Vickers Armstrong, Ltd.

The Polish government announced that a special commission would be set up to investigate the crash.

Mamadou Dia Is Exiled On Tiny Island

DAKAR, Senegal (UPI) — Pro-Western President Leopold Senghor, firmly in control of Senegal, has shipped leftist ex-premier Mamadou Dia and his chief aides into exile on a tiny island off the coast of Senegal, reliable sources reported Wednesday.

The sources said Dia and three of his former ministers were taken from Dakar to the isle of Goree where they are being held under house arrest pending possible trial. The island, about 1,000 yards long and 300 yards wide, lies about two miles off Dakar.

The 52-year-old Dia was arrested Tuesday after losing an attempt to stay in power by force. Parliament lifted his immunity and abolished the office of premier, placing full powers in the hands of Senghor.

Sengalese paratroopers and police inspectors arrested Dia in his official residence Tuesday night and lodged him first in the capital's "little palace."

Also taken into custody and sent into exile with him were exministers Joseph M'Baye, Ibrahim Sar and Valdiodio Ndiaye, the sources said.

Geyser Is Blamed In Scalding Death Of Housewife

PACOIMA, Calif. (AP)—One of nature's phenomena—a geyser—is blamed for the death Tuesday night of a Woodland Hills, Calif., housewife.

The coroner's office said Mrs. Dean Elliott, 38, was severely scalded Dec. 5 when she was thrown from her car 40 miles north of Bishop, Calif. he landed in a roadside stream of 180-degree water spewed forth by the Casa Diablo Geyser.

Dean Elliott, 45, the victim's husband, said the accident occurred near the entrance to Mammoth Lakes. The car hit a patch of slippery road and spun toward the ditch containing the steaming water.

The door of the car popped open when the auto hit a pole, Elliott said, and his wife was thrown into the water.

Mrs. Elliott died in Pacoima Lutheran Hospital.

Red Cross Works Around Clock On Supplies For Cuba

WASHINGTON (UPI)—American Red Cross personnel, working 24-hour shifts in a fifth floor conference room of their headquarters here, are collecting the $53 million of supplies that Fidel Castro is asking for the release of the Bay of Pigs prisoners.

The Cuban premier's list, it was learned Wednesday, is about the size of a big city telephone directory. It contains some 10,000 items — perhaps more, perhaps less.

The Red Cross is playing a key role in the deal for the release of the 1,113 captured Cuban invaders. It has agreed to get the items on Castro's list, arrange their shipment to Florida, store them there, and eventually move them on to Cuba if the negotiations are successfully completed.

Ramone F. Eaton, a vice president of the American Red Cross, said the U.S. government has not assisted in the organization's operation at all, although they have been "completely sympathetic."

He said the contributions so far —and they now total more than $33 million—have been voluntary. Up to Wednesday, he said, 139 companies have contributed supplies, such as food or drugs.

"There has been a magnificent response," he said.

New York Attorney James B. Donovan, who is handling the negotiations with Castro in Havana, has kept the Red Cross informed of the state of the talks.

If an announcement should come from him that arrangements have been completed, the Red Cross would move immediately to get 20 per cent of the list—about $11 million worth of supplies—en route to Cuba.

The prisoners probably would then be released. The organization would then have another four months to complete the shipments. All of this, however, depends upon the outcome of the Castro-Donovan talks.

The Maritime Trades Department of the AFL-CIO said Wednesday that the freighter African Pilot will sail from Miami either Friday night or Saturday morning with the exchange goods. A union spokesman said the time of sailing was set during a conference at the Justice Department Wednesday.

He said the Maritime Trades Department had agreed to donate the labor needed to transport the goods to Havana, and estimated the monetary value for this at $15,000.

The Red Cross operation is being headed by George Smith, the organization's veteran director of supplies. It is being run on the same pattern as any Red Cross disaster operation involving a natural calamity, such as a hurricane.

Firms are contacted and asked to contribute, Eaton said. The H. J. Heinz Co., for example, informed the supply committee Tuesday afternoon that it would provide 295,000 cans of strained baby food.

Final Rites Are Held For Chas. Laughton

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Charles Laughton's favorite passage from Shakespeare — pinpointing the transitory fame of the acting profession—was read Wednesday at funeral services for the star who died Saturday of cancer.

Author Christopher Isherwood read Prospero's farewell speech from Shakespeare's "The Tempest," which Isherwood said was selected by Laughton's widow, actress Elsa Lanchester. He read:

"Our revels now are ended. These our actors, as I foretold you were all spiritis, and are melted into air, into thin air. . ."

Mourners also heared Isherwood eulogize the late star for his "extraordinary powers as an actor" and "his great performance as King Lear at Stratford-on-Avon."

Final services were held at the Forest Lawn Hollywood cemetery chapel on a sunny afternoon within sight of Warner Bros. studio where Laughton had performed during his lifetime.

In addition to Isherwood, pallbearers were actors Raymond Massey and Bill Phitts, attorney Loyd Wright, producer Taft Schreiber and Jean Renoir, son of the famed French artist.

Mourners heard Isherwood praise "the great genius Mr. Laughton gave to young actors, with whom he worked as often as possible."

He also noted the late actor's devotion to his adopted country, the United States which Laughton tourned for many years presenting his readings of the classics "to audiences that rarely see a live actor at all" — as he once said.

Laughton, 63, died at his home Saturday night after a long fight against cancer.

Sabin Oral Vaccine Gets Green Light

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. surgeon general Wednesday gave the go-ahead for communitywide immunization against polio with all three types of Sabin oral vaccine—the emphasis to be put on children and young adults.

Word came the day after a meeting of the surgeon generals' special advisory committee, which considered a number of cases of paralytic polio suspected of resulting from vaccination with one strain of the Sabin vaccine.

Dr. Luther L. Terry, the surgeon general, said the committee recommended the go-ahead and he accepted the recommendation.

Amish Prefer Home Study To Formal Education For Children

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP) — A spokesman for the Amish — plain people who want no frills in any part of their lives — said Wednesday a proposal to abolish home study for 14-year-olds "will take away everything we fought for."

The proposal, broached Tuesday by Dr. Harry K. Gerlach, Lancaster County school superintendent, would require the children of Amish and Mennonite families to attend formal school full-time until age 15. Gerlach said local educators will ask the legislature next spring to end the program which allows home study projects to count scholastically.

The pupils now go to school only three hours a week for formal instruction, the rest of the time being spent on the family farms. At 15 they get work permits and quit school for good.

Aaron E. Beiler, chairman of the Amish Education Committee, said the home study program is working satisfactorily and expressed surprise at Gerlach's statement. He said the Amish themselves had neither received nor heard of any complaints. He went on:

"We are doing what was asked by the state. If he (Gerlach) wants reports I can show him bushels of them. Our committee is very strict on enforcement."

The provisions of the study plan for 14-year-olds applies to about 80 pupils all told. Gerlach said that in this day of modern agriculture the idea that plain sect children need no formal education has become outmoded.

The Lancaster County proposals, Gerlach said, include elimination of the three-hour schooling provision, keeping all children in school until they are 15, and revamping seventh and eighth grade curriculum to introduce more advanced subjects.

BALTIMORE (AP)—A guitarist from Baltimore has been indicted by the federal grand jury on a charge of stealing a small airplane from the Martinsburg, W.Va. airport.

Roger Lee Woods was accused in the indictment of flying the plane to Baltimore's Friendship Airport Dec. 2 and abandoning it there. He had been charged twice previously on a similar offenses.

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Tawes says he will support legislation that would require candidates for statewide and congressional offices to file their campaign expense statements at a central office.

At present, there is no central collection point for the statements. The candidates are required to file expense statements in the Circuit Court of the county or city where they, their treasurers or their political agents live.

Tawes said the bill, which would have administration backing, might designate the secretary of state's office as the central collection agency.

Dutch Plow Up 94 Planes

By JOOP MARMELSTEIN

THE HAGUE (UPI) — Dutch farmers, plowing for the first time land which a short time ago was the bottom of the Zuider Zee, have dug up 94 plane wrecks from World War II.

Experts of the Royal Netherlands Air Force engaged in salvaging and identifying the planes estimate that eventually some 200 wrecks will be found in the new land drained from the sea.

In mid-November the wreckage of a German ME 109G single-seat fighter was recovered. Near the wreck, buried in about five feet of mud, were the remains of the pilot. The air force detectives established that he was a blond, thick-set man probably in his middle 30s. They established that the plane crashed in 1943 and concluded that this man was one of the experienced fighter pilots who were beginning to run short in Germany by that time.

There were bullet holes through the plane. The plane's fire extinguishers were empty and there still were traces of foam on the engine. The experts concluded the pilot was fighting to get his burning plane back to one of the German air fields, in northeast Holland. A map case in the plane was folded to show the northern part of Holland. The ME109G had no radar, so the experts concluded it was employed in combating daylight raids by U.S. B-17 Flying Fortresses. Damage to the fighter indicated it was shot down by the tail-gunner of a Fortress. Position of the plane indicated the pilot had fought to the last moment to keep it in the air and did not try to bail out. The parachute was found in the cockpit, well preserved and ready for use.

By next summer another part of the Zuider Zee, one of the big aerial battle zones of World War II, will be sucked dry and the Air Force expects to find at least 100 more wrecks.

Strong Yet Safe—Gives Hours of Continuous Relief from Minor

ARTHRITIS PAINS

Reduces swelling and inflammation so it's easier to move afflicted limbs again

No cure as yet has been found for arthritis. But medical research has established that the strong yet safe medication in Anacin® gives hours of relief from arthritis' minor pains—even such chronic pain arising from deep in joints. It has also been found Anacin has an anti-inflammatory action that helps reduce swelling and inflammation—a basic cause of arthritis suffering. In minutes—pain is relieved so it's easier to move around and this helps keep joints from 'locking' or 'stiffening.'

Anacin Tablets are so effective because they contain strong yet safe medication. Remember, aspirin or buffered aspirin has only one pain reliever. But Anacin is like a doctor's prescription. That is, a combination of three medically proven ingredients. And Anacin does not upset the stomach. Take as directed.

WSCS Votes Christmas Gifts

The Flintstone WSCS voted a cash Christmas gift for Rev. John Ewald and decided to use the evening offering to buy a blanket for needy in Algeria. The brief business session was conducted by Mrs. Gloria Kinton in conjunction with the Christmas program. Mrs. Nan Wigfield and Mrs. Tressa Hoover will remember the shut-ins for Christmas.

Silent prayer was held for sick members and cards were signed to be sent to Mrs. Nina Bender, Mrs. Pearl Shriver and Mrs. Helen Wilson.

Mrs. Grace Nash and Mrs. Myrtle Gilson were in charge of the program, "Christmas Is Sharing," which opened with the former reading, "Jesus' Birth." Mrs. Martha Robinette sang, "O Holy Night" with Mrs. Margaret Norris at the piano. A candlelight service was held with Mrs. Robinette, Mrs. Hoover, Mrs. Carolye Nixon, Mrs. Nellie Chaney, Miss Pearl Wilson, Miss Lena Twigg, Mrs. Betty McLaughlin and Mrs. Edna Shriver singing, "Deck the Halls" and "Hark the Herald Angels Sing." Mrs. Vianna Fletcher read, "It Is Christmas Again"; and Mrs. Nash, "The First Christmas." After prayer by Mrs. Gilson the group sang, "Silent Night." Mrs. B. C. Robinette was organist.

The Scripture was read alternately by Mrs. Gilson and Mrs. Nash. The group sang, "There's a Song in the Air" and "Come All Ye Faithful." and a dialogue, "Christmas Is Sharing" was presented by Mrs. Dorothy Smith, Mrs. Barbara Ewald, Mrs. Eleanor Norris, Mrs. Mabel Bible, Mrs. Kinton and Mrs. Mary Hout. "Happy Birthday" was sung to Mrs. Scott Robinette, who is 85. During the social hour, refreshments were served. The holiday motif was carried out in the decorations. Twenty-members attended.

Union Official Finds Dynamite Wired To Auto

BALTIMORE (AP) — A live stick of dynamite wired to explode when the ignition was turned on was discovered under the hood of a Teamster Union official's car Wednesday.

Richard W. Grabowski, 51, made the discovery when he looked under the hood. He told police he had followed the practice recently of checking for dynamite before starting his car.

Demolition experts from the Army Chemical Center at Edgewood, Md., dismantled the explosive. They said the dynamite would have been activated if Grabowski had touched the starter.

Grabowski, business agent of Teamsters Local 557, is running for president of the local against the incumbent, George Willinger.

Grabowski has been an outspoken opponent of James R. Hoffa, international president of the union, in recent years. He was the only Maryland delegate to vote against Hoffa for the Teamster presidency in 1957 and testified against him before the McClellan Committee in 1959.

Baltmiore police and the FBI started an investigation of the incident.

Mona Lisa Bypasses Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP) — The famous lady of the Louvre, Mona Lisa, bypassed Baltimore Wednesday, going through the Baltimore Harbor tunnel at 1:59 p.m.

Leonardo da Vinci's priceless treasure, en route from New York to the National Gallery of Art in Washington, was closely guarded by a 14-vehicle security procession.

The painting, loaned to the United States by the Paris Museum, came through the tunnel in a panel truck, preceded by a harbor tunnel police car, two State Police cars and seven cars filled with Secret Service men. It was followed by two other State Police cars and a harbor tunnel car.

The tunnel was cleared of other traffic before the slightly smiling lady made her appearance.

The government cars did not stop to pay their toll charges, but the Secret Service said it would mail a check for $4.10 to cover Mona Lisa's expenses.

Negro Appointed As Assistant To States Attorney

UPPER MARLBORO, Md. (AP) — James H. Taylor, a Negro, was appointed Wednesday an assistant states attorney for Prince Georges County. He is the first Negro to be appointed to such a position in any of Maryland's 23 counties.

Taylor, 36, of Fairmount Heights, was among six assistants picked by State's Atty. Arthur A. Marshall Jr., who takes over the prosecutor's job Jan. 7. Marshal was among those elected in the Democratic sweep of county offices Nov. 6.

Taylor attended Howard University and was graduated from American University Law School in 1953. For the next three years he was a citizenship examiner for the State Department.

He then resigned to enter private law practice in Prince Georges County. In 1960 he was named town attorney for Fairmount Heights.

Order Crackdown On Drinking By Postal Employes

WASHINGTON (AP)— A crackdown has been ordered on drinking in the Washington Post Office.

Officials said on-the-job drinking has become so widespread that mail operations have been disrupted.

On Dec. 1 and 2, Postmaster O. G. Beall said, 400 empty liquor bottles were found in the main post office.

As a result, orders have been issued barring alcoholic beverages from the premises, on penalty of suspension or even firing the employe involved.

A. E. Newton, postal regional director for the Washington area, said drinking on the job by postal workers has increased greatly since a postal pay raise Oct. 13.

Newsman Fined

MILAN, Italy (UPI) — Italian newsman Giancarlo Fusco was fined $12.80 Monday when he did not appear in court as a witness for Mme. Maria Callas in the separation suit filed by her husband, Battista Meneghini. The long drawn out trial was adjourned until Jan. 7.

Shake-Down Attempt Is Being Probed

TOWSON, Md. (AP) — Spiro T. Agnew, the new Baltimore County executive, reported Wednesday an attempt to shake down contract refuse collectors to contribute money as a guarantee for keeping their jobs.

Agnew said a police investigation disclosed that the person demanding the payoff had told refuse collectors the money would be used to pay off a deficit incurred by the Republican ticket in the recent election.

One of the collectors, Agnew said, made a substantial payment. He said the matter had been turned over to the state's attorney's office for furher action.

The county executive declined to identify the person who is said to have warned that collectors would be fired if they did not make payments.

Deliveries To Be Limited On Christmas

Only parcel post gift parcels, special delivery and parcels containing perishable matter will be delivered on Christmas Day, the Post Office announced yesterday.

There will be no rural delivery Christmas Day, Postmaster Thomas F. Conlon said.

The question of deliveries Sunday has not been decided since it is still too early to tell if the "mail early" campaign paid off. Should it be determined that the late mail load warrants it, then it is likely that deliveries will be made.

Post Office officials still expect letter cancellations to exceed last year although the total dropped about 30,000 behind Tuesday as compared to the same numerical date during the Christmas mailing period last year.

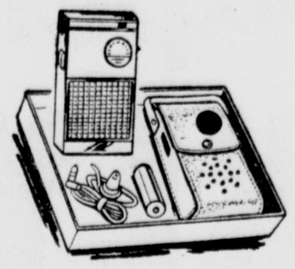

But the overall total, including cancellations, parcel post, etc., remains ahead of last year, Conlon said.

Cancellations Tuesday were 233,000 compared to 262,000 the same numerical date last year. The overall total this year is 3,348,000 compared to 3,094,000 the same day a year ago.

Local College Will Hold Test

The American College Testing Program will be given Thursday, December 27, from 8 a. m. to noon in Allegany Community College.

Dr. Robert S. Zimmer, college president, said these tests must be taken by students entering ACC. The examinations are also conducted for those who will enter other schools.

Applications may be obtained at the junior college office, Frederick Street.

The second semester of Allegany Community College will start February 4, with registration scheduled January 30 and 31.

Dr. Zimmer said these new courses will be offered:

Principles of accounting, drawing and design, business law, advanced drafting, economic problems, introduction to world literature, intermediate French, fundamentals of statistics, calculus and philosophy.

Also to be instituted in the second semester is an evening course in college physical education.

Africa's Lake Victoria, which is one and one-half times the size of Switzerland, had its level raised three feet by a new power and irrigation dam.

City Backs Lonaconing Reserve Unit

The Mayor and Council of Cumberland has gone on record as opposing the transfer from Lonaconing of Company B, 336th MP Battalion to Lewes, Del., and has asked that it be retained at Lonaconing or at the Army Reserve Center here.

The action was taken by council Monday after a conference with Chief Warrant Officer Robert C. Petersen and John E. Bradburn, sergeant first class.

At a precouncil session, the two men told the mayor and commissioners that members of the unit are from throughout the county, all have Reserve time to serve and make up their time by attendance at the Lonaconing unit's drills. Transfer of the unit will mean that many will lose their Reserve time, it was explained. At least 15 "top-graders" will lose between 15 and 20 years of service, they said.

Copies of the resolution are to be sent to Maryland's senators and congressmen, the governor and Secretary of Defense McNamara.

The federal "streamlining" plan, opposed by many members of Congress, governors, reserve and guard groups, breaks up eight low-priority Reserve and guard infantry divisions and lops off about 730 smaller units.

Petersen and Bradburn told council the MP Battalion would be invaluable here in event of an emergency and, in fact, would "constitute another police force."

The average person who attends a convention spends in the neighborhood of $94 in the convention city.

$100 Billion U.S. Budget Here

The day of the $100 billion federal budget apparently has arrived.

A multi-billion figure is an abstraction incomprehensible to most persons. It may help, however, to contrast the planned 1963-64 outlay with the "mere" 98.3 billion wartime budget of 1945 and the peacetime record of $93.7 billion estimated for the current fiscal year.

The projected spending for defense is expected to be $50 billion, little changed from the current year's expenditures. While national security and international commitments have been increasing, the major push behind soaring budgets comes from domestic welfare programs and public projects.

A $100 billion budget would certainly mean a huge deficit. Only a prolonged steep upsurge in business activity could sustain a budget of this size. The current year's deficit is estimated at $7.8 billion, and if Congress grants President Kennedy's promised tax cut, next year's deficit could easily exceed the peacetime record $12.4 billion set by the Eisenhower administration in 1959.

A large across-the-board tax cut in the face of largely increased federal spending carries the seeds of inflation and could undercut the dollar's integrity. Pressures are building up in Congress to condition a tax cut upon spending reductions or new revenue sources.

Long committed to this view are Senator Byrd and Senator Kerr, chairman and ranking member, respectively, of the Senate Finance Committee, and Chairman Mills of the House Ways and Means Committee.

Congo Attitudes

By Irene Corbally Kuhn

Saturday, December 22, is D (for Depart-or-be-Deported) Day for Michel Struelens, director general of Katanga Information Services in the United States. Mr. Struelens, a Belgian national permitted by his government to work in the Congo for Katanga Province, was told he will be kicked out like a criminal if he doesn't go voluntarily.

However, he has decided to stay and fight since President Moise Tshombe cabled him instructions to "exhaust all legal means possible as required by the American authorities in order to contribute to the vital rights of Katanga."

Mr. Struelens is prepared to do just that, even though he knows he is the bone in the throat of Secretary General U Thant of the United Nations.

There are many informed Americans, including several Senators and Congressmen, who are exercised about our government's campaign against Struelens, and concerned for the United States. They see a Cuban Congo in the making if the United States persists in its pro-UN and anti-Katanga policy.

The plain facts are that the United Nations is running out of money to continue its ill-advised military adventure in the Congo. Moreover, India, at war over Red China's aggressions along her borders, desperately needs her soldiers tied up in the UN's Congo operation.

Mr. U Thant, whose predecessor Dag Hammarskjold died in the first stages of this tragic drama of Western determination to achieve quick results, has called now for a rapidly stepped-up campaign of economic sanctions, a boycott and a blockade against President Tshombe's Katanga. He aims to put the screws on the province no matter how many innocent persons are squeezed to death in the process.

The UN has long since deserted its pious peacemaking act in the Congo and so this cruel pressure on ordinary people to make them come to terms is in character. This week the disclosure was made that the International Red Cross inspectors who were sent to the Congo to investigate the atrocities there made their reports many months ago. They discovered and confirmed that it was Ethiopian troops of the UN, not Katangese, as charged, who had committed the many atrocities. The report was kept secret and has only now come to light.

Confirmation of this and other UN evasions comes from Conor Cruise O'Brien, UN chief in Elisabethville in the bloody September, 1961.

This embittered Irishman, no longer with the UN, has written "To Katanga and Back" just published in London.

Dr. O'Brien now denies the UN report made from Elisabethville at that time, when the late Dag Hammarskjold was present and in command. The report stated that UN troops went into action only to defend themselves against overt attack in the form of arson in a UN garage and gun-fire against UN troops.

"The fighting started in a quite different way," Dr. O'Brien writes. "It had its origin (not in resistance by UN troops to Katangese aggression but) in Katangese-European resistance to a planned action by the UN . . .

"The great political objective of the UN in the Sept. 13 attack was—and necessarily remained—to end the secession of Katanga."

The determination of the UN, supported by U.S. policy, to force Tshombe's rich and orderly province into Premier Adoula's weak central government is the frankly declared reason for the U.S. moves against Mr. Struelens. He is being expelled to show the U.S. is, in effect, willing to play the Big Bully role; and that we are behind the UN's determination to force a large section of the population of the Congo into an alliance they don't want.

While the U.S.-UN was shaking a fist at Tshombe, through Struelens, and putting a reassuring arm around Congo Premier Adoula, that worthy's government in Leopoldville announced it would not permit a U.S. Senator, Allen J. Ellender, to re-enter the Congo. Senator Ellender, a Louisiana Democrat, is supposed to have made slighting remarks about African leaders while in Salisbury, Rhodesia, recently. He visited Leopoldville for three days last month. He has given no indication he wanted to return to Adoula's harassed capital but the Congo was taking no chances.

It looks as if the U.S. is as afraid of Struelens' freedom to express his views, as the shaky Congolese government is of a U.S. Senator who will probably raise large questions in the Senate next month about U.S. support of the Congo, and U.S. disbursements to the UN for such items as $170 a month pay for Adoula's soldiers, for instance. This is more than twice what an $80 a month American non-mercernary private gets.

The truth of the matter is that the UN's Congo operation is laced with falsehoods and evasions. It does the U.S. no credit to go along with such policies.

Still No Explanation For Delay In Cuba Action

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—President Kennedy has unwittingly just given the American people an explanation of how an administration should not function in a crisis. He told of his experience with numerous advisers and conflicting opinions in connection with the Cuban crisis. But what he did not explain is why the government of the United States did not take action in Cuba when first reports came concerning the intervention of the Communist government in the island country.

Mr. Kennedy tells of how critical those "six days" in October were when his advisers gathered around him and there was fear that a misstep might be made. But he doesn't give any satisfactory answer to the question of why the Cuban situation was allowed to drift as far as it did before those same six days of decision-making started.

The President's review of his first two years in office, as given over television and radio of the three major networks, is an example of the advantage which the President has in the getting of publicity. There was no opportunity to rebut or refute what he said. Copies of his remarks were not made available to the press until about an hour and a half before the first broadcast. Opposition speakers who could have told the American people the weaknesses in the President's argument had no chance to examine the transcript, though actually Mr. Kennedy gave the interview twenty-four hours earlier, when it was taped by the networks.

The Cuban problem has not yet been solved, and it will take intensive investigation by Congressional committees to find out why the American people were left unprotected from the time last August when first reports came in concerning the emplacement of Soviet missiles to the taking of action late in October.

The President's analysis of the way his Administration reacted to the Cuban crisis indicates that he did not actually decide to take action against the Soviet government until he had some photographs showing the missiles were already in place. But many Americans had believed, from a reading of history, that the Monroe Doctrine was still a part of the foreign policy of the United States. They had assumed that the United States would act promptly to prevent the establishment of any European system in this hemisphere.

The Kennedy Administration, however, allowed the Soviet government to get a stronger and stronger hold in Cuba. Indeed, when the so-called "invasion" was undertaken in the Spring of 1961, the Kennedy Administration at first agreed to help the Cuban exiles and then withdrew air cover. It was this blunder which led the Soviets to believe that they could take a chance and send missiles to Cuba and that nothing would be done until the missiles actually were in place. Then the missiles could be withdrawn as a part of a trading process, with Premier Khrushchev hoping perhaps he could get concessions from the United States in connection with the Berlin or other controversies.

The dangers and risks in making foreign policy decisions by the method outlined by the President in his interview on television will give pause to those who have hitherto believed that the government of the United States would never allow any potential enemy to get as close as the Soviets did in Cuba. The fact that missiles were being shipped to Cuba was well known, and speeches were made, calling attention to this, on the floor of the Senate by Republican leaders as well as by some Democrats. The Central Intelligence Agency, on which the American government must depend for knowledge of what is going on inside foreign countries, had a substantial amount of information concerning what was happening in Cuba. It was enough for the American government to act upon and at least to demand in the late Summer that the Cubans get rid of Russian military equipment of all kinds.

Mr. Kennedy in his interview tells of the fears of his advisers that the situation might be "escalated." The difficulty is that the situation was allowed to reach the brink of danger, anyway.

Hitherto, American policy has been based upon established principles. There is no need for conferences among advisers, official or unofficial, to determine what the duty of the United States happens to be when a basic principle of national safety has been violated. It is as if the United States would argue whether or not it should retaliate when a blow is struck against its security. The fact that, when such a blow was struck in Cuba, it was the subject of six days of discussion before a determination was made to take forceful action, is an indication of how slow the process of decision-making has become.

Mr. Kennedy's explanations of the Russian attitude in connection with the missiles in Cuba is an interesting illustration of how little the United States was prepared to meet the different contingencies which arose. Instead of forestalling action, the problem was allowed to develop to a point where a real crisis emerged. Mr. Kennedy gives an interesting narrative of what happened. He says:

"I think, looking back on Cuba, what is of concern is the fact that both governments were so far out of contact, really. I don't think that we expected that he would put the missiles in Cuba, because it would have seemed such an imprudent action for him to take, as it was later proved. Now, he obviously must have thought that he could do it in secret and that the United States would accept it. So that he did not judge our intentions accurately."

The American people will still want to know why the United States did not do more about Soviet activities in Cuba during the years 1961 and 1962, especially when there was widespread knowledge that the Communists were militarily active in that country.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

WASHINGTON — Adlai Stevenson's usefulness as U. S. ambassador to the United Nations has been so badly impaired by reports of differences between himself and President Kennedy over the Cuban crisis that Washington and New York are being bombarded with rumors of his resignation.

These rumors persist despite repeated denials at the White House and the U.N., and their very persistence could ultimately become the straw on Stevenson's back that makes his continuation in the position unbearable.

It all began with publication of a magazine article, written by an intimate friend of the President, reporting the inside story of White House deliberations during the Cuban crisis. Stevenson was depicted as opposing imposition of a blockade or other "hard" line that would threaten war and favoring instead "negotiations" that have been described as another "Munich."

Washington correspondents place great credence in the authenticity of the story not only because of the caliber of the author, but because of a well-authenticated report that copies of the article were shown to Kennedy prior to publication.

Stevenson has his uses at the United Nations in the minds of administration leaders: he has, for instance, been an excellent debater for the American cause in the international in-fighting. But he has lost the confidence of Kennedy and the National Security Council when it comes to deliberating the best course of action in the cold war. And Stevenson can hardly be expected to stand by while he is stripped of the policy-making part of his job.

However, Stevenson is a man with a great sense of responsibility. He is not expected to resign abruptly or in a manner that could prove detrimental to the U.S. cause before the U.N. But when things quiet down, he can be expected to move out of the United Nations — possibly to some high-ranking, but non-critical ambassadorial post abroad.

Cooperation Of Patient Aids Gout Control

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Have the newer remedies improved the outlook in the gouty? These products were moderately successful in 64 victims who received the works for prolonged periods. But the reporting physicians believed these results could have been better with more cooperation from the patients and more enthusiasm on the part of physicians.

Untreated gout follows a pattern. The disease strikes quickly, often in the middle of the night, with severe pain in a big toe. Other joints may be involved but the great toe usually is favored. Distress continues for 10 to 14 days and disappears.

A second attack occurs months or years later. In time, the intervals between bouts are shorter and the duration of pain is longer. Chronic gout is the end result, with severe deformity and disability due to excess urates in the tissues.

The basic cause of an overabundance of uric acid in the blood. This is an inherent metabolic disturbance in which the individual manfuactures too much of this purine. Gouty arthritis develops when some of the uric acid finds its way into the joint spaces and crystalizes.

The standard treatment includes colchicine for relief of pain and agents such as probenecid or zoxazolamine that stimulate the kidneys to excrete more uric acid to lessen the amount in the blood. The trend is to take small amounts of these drugs every day.

The study on the 64 patients mentioned previously demonstrated that considerable cooperation is required, to be successful. Otherwise the uric acid blood levels tend to creep up and precipitate another attack. This means frequent checkups with changes in dosages or in the type of medication if the blood level does not stay down or symptoms return.

EXPOSURE TO DISEASE

L. S. writes: If a child has been exposed to a contagious disease such as the mumps or measles, and does not develop the disease, does this mean he has permanent immunity to these diseases?

REPLY

No. Not every susceptible child develops a contagious disease when exposed. On the other hand, some conditions such as measles are highly contagious and the chance of getting the disease when exposed is very high unless immunity exists. Mumps is less contagious.

OUT OF JOINT

J. G. writes: What can be done about recurrent dislocations of the shoulder?

REPLY

Surgery is the best remedy, especially if the fibrous covering and muscular cuff of the shoulder have been stretched and no longer can hold the shoulder in place during certain movements.

INJECTION INTO ARM

M. W. writes: What reactions would a person have to a tetanus shot and an antibiotic injection at the same time?

REPLY

None, but the tetanus shot might make the arm sore for 24 hours.

TOMORROW: Winter medical problems.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of diseases will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Dave Balch, passing a fish store on Vesey Street, spotted two tubs of live soft-shell crabs, side by side. One tub had a sign reading "$2.50 a dozen"; the other a sign reading, "$1.50 a dozen." While Balch watched, a crab in the $1.50-a-dozen tub pulled himself up laboriously from among his fellows, attained the rim of the tub, and climbed into the $2.50-a-dozen receptacle.

"That's the sort of thing," opined Balch with great satisfaction, "that can happen only in the U.S.A.!"

The headmaster of a famous old prep school in New England once had the temerity to expel the dissolute son of a powerful New York millionaire. The irate father drove up to the school in a fine rage and cried, "You obviously believe you can run this blasted institution any confounded way you please, don't you?"

The headmaster answered quietly, "Your manner is objectionable and your language vulgar—but somehow I believe you have gotten the point."

Helicopters Set To Fly Justices To Hideaway During Cuban Crisis

By Drew Pearson

During this same period, the U. S. Air Force was forbidden to send nuclear-armed planes to key Canadian bases. Under plans worked out by the Royal Canadian Air Force and the U. S. Air Force, it was understood these bases would be available. But during this crucial period of delay, U. S. planes were barred.

The Canadian government, which has frowned on U. S. policy in Cuba, was not at all sure, at first, whether it would cooperate.

U. S. Power Struggle

It is now agreed that President Kennedy won a great victory in his skillful handling of the Cuban crisis. But the power struggle inside the White House is continuing over the basic policy of the future—whether to seize the lull in the Kremlin to negotiate or to continue giving Khrushchev the diplomatic staright-arm.

This power struggle finds Adlai Stevenson, Secretary of State Rusk, Under Secretary George Ball, and Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson generally lined up in favor of meeting Khrushchev's conciliatory and unexpected missile withdrawal from Cuba with some American conciliation in return.

The hard-nosed group is led by CIA Director John McCone and includes Dean Acheson and his relative, McGeorge Bundy, the White House adviser on foreign policy. They take a don't-give-an-inch position.

Prime Minister Macmillan in his talks with Kennedy at Nassau is reported lining up with the moderates. He believes we can expect a period of relative calm with the Soviet Union for some time to come.

Secretary of State Rusk has expressed cautious optimism that we are on the verge of "significant and perhaps unpredictable events"; while Under Secretary Ball says, "We may, before too long, begin to detect the first faint signs of a change for the better in the cold war."

USSR Power Struggle

Some of these moderates argue that we should help Khrushchev with his own power struggle inside the Kremlin by giving him something. If, for instance, we should pull our out-of-date Jupiter missiles out of Turkey and Italy, which missile bases the Joint Chiefs of Staff say are of no value anyway, it would strengthen Khrushchev with his own hard-nosed clique who want to intensify the cold war.

But, to this, CIA Chief McCone and the Acheson group flatly say no.

When the joint intelligence board, composed of experts from the State Department, CIA, Army, Navy and Air Force, informed the President that they believed Russia had embarked on a new policy based on peace, McCone was the lone dissenter. The board, after careful deliberation, prediction there would be no Russian squeeze on Berlin or other retaliation as previously expected. But McCone interpreted this as meaning Russia was trying to lull us to sleep.

Some advisers have warned Kennedy not to push Khrushchev too hard lest it play into the hands of the tough, pro-war Red army leaders. But, as of today, the President seems to rely on CIA Chief John McCone and the Acheson-Bundy advisers.

Merry-Go-Round

J. Edgar Hoover and George Allen, the former White House jester, have been dove-hunting as the guests of ex-Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey in Georgia . . . The biggest underground parking lot in Washington will now benefit members of the House of Representatives, long jealous of the underground parking lot of Senators. The old George Washington Inn will be razed to make way for 2,890 cars. Cost, $8,000,000 . . . Half a dozen different book publishers were afraid to publish the new book, "The Corrupt Judge," by Joseph Borkin. It took the courageous Clarkson Potter Company to put it in the bookstores—a best seller in Washington . . . Walter Reuther and George Meany will solve their battle over who should be the CIO replacement on the AFL-CIO Executive Council by nominating Eugene Frazier, president of the Red Caps Union. Frazier will be the second Negro to be admitted to the exclusive council, the other being Philip Randolph of the sleeping car porters. Meany had turned thumbs down on Ralph Helstein of the United Packinghouse Workers on the ground that his union was too leftist.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

I think I can say, without fear of contradiction, that I have never made a small mistake in my life. Stupendous, yes. Gigantic, to be sure. But never little ones. If I trip over a step, it is always at the top of the stairs. If I fall out of bed, the floor is concrete. If I say the wrong thing, everybody starts swinging at once. At me.

Every year, I go to Florida. I like the fishing and the sun and the palms. But I miss my boat. I'm south and the boat is north. Each year, I ask myself what the heck is the use of having a beautiful 35-foot Richardson with a flying bridge and enough instruments to sink it, if it is high and dry at Blue Water Marina in Sea Bright, N. J. and I'm in Miami?

Stupid. I was forced to charter and borrow boats. At the Jack Tar Marina in Grand Bahama, I used a 30-footer trying to catch fish bigger than the boat. When brains were given out, I must have ben standing behind the Kennedys. All of them.

Well, I wasn't going to be caught this year. Frank Sarpolus, a top-flight boatman, always had a yen to take a boat down the inland waterway to Florida. So I said: "Take the Away We Go IV." Frank said: "Good idea." So he did. It saved me the 18 days required to sail it south.

Before he left, I asked the marina to haul the boat out and fix anything requiring fixing They did. Never tell a marina "fix anything." Be specific.

The bill came in for over $400. It was itemized in sea-going language which no one can understand. Then Frank wanted some gasoline money. This, I was stunned to find, comes to about $500. I was thinking of selling an article entitled "Confessions of a Boatman," but no magazine wanted it. I couldn't even afford to go to the bon voyage party.

Well, I thought, we can always live on the boat. It sleeps six. We can save money. We can cook good rousing meals of frankfurters and beans on the galley stove. The idea sounded better and better. After all, the Away We Go is only three years old and hasn't been used 300 hours. A boat requires use.

Sarpolus left the boat at the West Palm Beach Marina after a voyage of unmarked shoals, whole gales, stark terror and cold weather. His wife, who doesn't care for the main, bounding or not, may start speaking to him at Christmas. The dockmaster, George Eggleston, took the keys to the boat, and said he'd take care of it.

That's that. The boat is in Florida. I've waited three years to get it there. There's only one weakness in the scheme. Now I can't afford to go. I'm north, the boat is south. I wish George Eggleston would get it to write a postcard now and then.

The main reason I can't go south is that I have a book to write. This is the true reason. It's a novel called Honeymoon Diary. If I don't keep pecking at it, the principals will spend their honeymoon in the old folks home. I'm only up to page 200 and lover boy is already gray-haired and round-shouldered.

My agents, Ashley-Steiner, phoned yesterday and said, as casually as a governor denying a commutation of sentence: "How's the old novel coming along?" At once, I knew that the nearest I would get to Florida would be a half grapefruit at breakfast. "Fine," I said. "I'm up to page 200 and the hero is still finding out things about his bride."

"How many pages do you think it will go?" the agent said. I drew myself up to my full five seven and a half, over the phone. "I," I said haughtily, "am an artist, not a tailor. The honeymooners are just barely becoming — ahem — adjusted. Maybe 525 pages." "Well," the agent said, "I hope you keep hammering at it."

So I went back to the typewriter. I was so mad it required three pages to get the hero out of bed. Still, work must come first, so I resigned myself to a hard winter of imagining myself with two idiots in love. This morning a letter came in which wrecks my peace of mind.

It is from Captain Whitey Klesinger of the Princess II. He's a good captain and a good son. His mother is his great love. Whitey you. If there is anything I can do toward looking after your boat while you're away, tell me."

Yes, cap. You can do something for me. It's too good a craft to sit swinging at a dock. Sell it. Give it away. . .

You're Telling Me!

By William Ritt

That great blizzard which engulfed the Northeastern United States set the scene for Santa Claus' annual visit—but did we have to get so ready so soon?

Traffic speed in London averages 10.7 miles per hour today, it is revealed by a just concluded study. Back in 1897 the speed limit there was 14 mph. Those Mid-Victorians must have been a fast bunch, after all!

If that snowfall kept up, suggests F. E. F., that old song's title would have had to be changed to "Shovel Off to Buffalo!"

Committee Seeks Report On Manpower

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Gov. W. W. Barron's Manpower Utilization Committee has recommended that the Department of Employment Security conduct a "consolidated report on all manpower requirements" in order to provide a picture of potential industries coming into the state.

The committee, in a report to the governor, said such a report on manpower would tell potential industries the state's present manpower supplies and outline for high schools and colleges the potential for training students for jobs.

Also contained in the report was a recommendation that the committee be reconstituted and given statutory authority by the Legislature. The committee, appointed last summer, is headed by chairman David L. Francis, Huntington, and vice chairman Miles Stanley, president of the West Virginia Labor Federation, AFL-CIO.

The group said manpower forecasts on industrial skills in the mountain state might be prepared to serve as a guide to industry.

Another study was suggested for the "hard core of unemployed" which makes up about 30 per cent of the state's welfare rolls and includes persons who have been on the rolls for more than six months. Those persons included in the "hard core" group normally have less than a sixth-grade education and "have been on welfare sometimes into the second and third generations."

The committee said the study which could assist educational leaders in their plans should be conducted to find "corrective solutions" to particular problems.

The group further suggested that a full-time administrative assistant be provided to the committee.

Barron instructed the committee earlier to make recommendations regarding the more effective utilization of the state's present and future manpower.

Firemen Called To Local Dairy

Firemen from Central station yesterday morning were called to the rear of Queen City Dairy when gasoline leaked from a gasoline tank truck.

The firemen washed down the area to prevent a blaze from breaking out.

Sewerage Study

"It is not the intention of the Allegany County Sanitary Commission," said chairman Playford Aldridge, "to stand against a county-wide system which is economically feasible."

Of the report submitted by the City-County Water-Sewage Commission, he said he thought the overall approach is good but that the county should operate on a sound economic basis.

William A. Douglas, chairman of the city-county study committee, said everybody wants to get what is best for the county as a whole, and that he agreed the committee was the best approach to settle the matter.

Mr. Fisher said he was in favor of the county-wide approach but that the committee was responsible for solving LaVale's problem and stressed again that delay is "costing us money."

Dr. Prather assured the LaVale project is not going to be held up.

Funds Assured

Mr. Brown suggested that Cumberland and LaVale might submit the issue of fees for the use of the treatment plant to arbitration, if an agreement cannot be reached.

He assured LaVale that the state does not propose that any group in the county lose money and that "money can be made available" for either purpose—a treatment plant or interceptors.

James McComas, another member of Dr. Prather's staff, said there is still time to qualify for federal funds under the accelerated program and Mr. Brown pledged to explain the situation to federal officials.

A united approach was urged by Frostburg's Mayor Joseph E. James, who said "whatever you do, do it in unison" and Barton's Mayor Arthur P. Hoffa, who said "we should join together" in working out the problem.

Sanitary Unit

quire a minimum of six months and most likely a year to prepare.

"The City-County Sewerage Committee has endeavored to develop project costs for a county sewerage system. Copies of these cost tables were transmitted to the State Health Department. . . . Table 1 is a copy of the summary page prepared by Mr. William A. Douglas, which indicates a $6,005,036 cost, excluding purchase of the Cumberland plant.

"It was originally proposed by the Douglas Committee to purchase the City of Cumberland sewage treatment plant at a cost of approximately two (2) million dollars. Subsequent information indicates this idea has been abandoned and the proposed "Authority" would purchase two-fifths, or 40% of the Cumberland plant's capacity. The operation and maintenance of the Cumberland plant would continue to be the responsibility of the City of Cumberland. Since the City-County Committee does not now propose to purchase the Cumberland plant, and the Cumberland plant will be operated and maintained by the City of Cumberland, it would appear that the proposed City-County Sewerage Authority would then become a County Sewerage Authority.

Cites Time Limit

"Table 1 assumes Accelerated Public Works funds will be available for 50% of the cost of the collecting sewer systems, including engineering. Accelerated Public Works funds are available until June 30, 1963, for those projects which are ready to proceed immediately. The Allegany County Sanitary Commission and the LaVale Sanitary Commission have already undertaken steps to obtain Accelerated Public Works funds. There is no guarantee that these funds will be available in 1964, just as there is no guarantee that plans and specifications, surveys and other work can be completed to place the City-County program under construction by 1964.

"From current available information, Table 2 has been prepared showing the probable project cost and bond issue which would be required for a complete County sewerage system. The figures . . . have been taken from the City-County Committee's cost analysis as submitted to the State Health Department. The estimates of construction costs, as reported by the City-County Committee, have been used in Table 2, although there is doubt as to the accuracy of these numbers, since in many instances studies have not been prepared on the areas covered, and in the case of the Georges Creek area, an existing report has been overlooked.

"Table 2 shows a net project cost and possible bond issue of $9,155,000, which is $3,150,000 greater than the estimated cost by the City-County Committee. This represents a 50% increase in project cost, which could conceivably be greater after engineering studies have been prepared. The Allegany County Sanitary Commission, under the Sanitary District Law of 1957, amended 1960, has the some function, powers and jurisdiction as would the proposed County Sewerage Authority. The question then arises as to what benefit, if any, would arise from the creation of a new sewerage "Authority."

"Should the Allegany County and LaVale Sanitary Commissions be only interim municipal bodies until such time as the County Sewerage Authority is created, a financing problem could arise. It is possible that these bodies would not be able to sell bonds and that Allegany County would have to provide the funds for constructing the planned facilities for the LaVale, Bowling Green and Cresaptown Sanitary Districts.

Asks Decision

The original report of the Douglas Committee proposed the sale of revenue bonds, which bear a higher interest rate than general obligation bonds sold by the county. Since there is also doubt as to the market and desirability of revenue bonds for the proposed project, the Committee now proposes to use the faith and credit of Allegany County. It is our understanding that the present time Allegany County has outstanding indebtness in the amount of approximately 7.1 million dollars, and that other bond issues are contemplated.

"Allegany County is also faced with the problem of providing water supply from the Savage River Dam upon the completion of the Upper Potomac River project at Bloomington. It is estimated that within approximately 13 years, 14.3 million dollars will be required for water supply in Allegany County. Thus . . . Table 3 has been developed to show the outstanding indebtness and contemplated indebtness of Allegany County through the year 1975 if all proposed projects are approved. The total of 35.58 million dollars does not include any bond issues required for road construction, additional school construction over that presently contemplated, or any possible contribution to the Bloomington Dam, which might be required of the County.

"Thus the County Commissioners must decide on what debt obligations the County should incur over the next 15 years, based upon the present and future tax base of the County.

"The present program of the Allegany County Sanitary Commission is to create Sanitary Districts to serve the populous areas of the County, using the City of Cumberland and Westernport plants whenever economically possible. It is not the intent of the Sanitary Commission to construct duplicate facilities nor to provide treatment plants indiscriminately. All projects of the Sanitary Commission are based upon sound engineering and financial studies.

"Sanitary Districts have been found feasible for not only the Cresaptown and Bowling Green areas but also for the Bedford Road area. Previous studies have proposed a sanitary district for the Georges Creek Valley, including the City of Frostburg. Other studies will be made of the Wills Creek and Jennings Run areas.

"Working within the framework of the Sanitary District Act of 1957, the Allegany County Sanitary Commission has the authority and capability to provide needed sewerage facilities for Allegany County, either on a County-wide Sanitary District basis or by the creation of individual Sanitary Districts.

Warm Era Due To End Today, Snow Predicted

By The Associated Press

The rising temperature trend in Maryland appears headed for a set-back and the Weather Bureau says there is a possibility of snow in Western Maryland.

The Weather Bureau said that northerly winds are pushing cold air into Maryland and temperatures should start dropping late Thursday or Friday with a chance of snow in the west and rain in the east.

More precipitation is expected Saturday, with cold weather during the weekend. The forecast said highs Thursday will be near 40 degrees.

Blue Cross May Get Part Of Rate Increase Sought

BALTIMORE (AP) — The state insurance commissioner, F. Douglass Sears, indicated Wednesday he would grant at least part of a rate increase the Maryland Blue Cross is seeking.

"I would rather be criticized for raising Blue Cross rates than be criticized for permitting them to become insolvent," Sears said.

"If hospital costs continue to rise," the commissioner declared, "it is obvious that Blue Cross rates will continue to rise also.

"What's the answer? I frankly don't know what it is, but I do know that Blue Cross is a necessity."

Sears conducted a public hearing Tuesday on a request by Blue Cross to raise its standard hospitalization premiums by an average 22.8 per cent, effective March 1.

After the hearing, Sears said he would announce a decision in about one month.

About two-thirds of Blue Cross' 1,100,000 Maryland subscribers would be affected by the rate boost. Blue Shield premiums, however, would remain unchanged.

Reginald H. Dabney, executive director of the hospital insurance system said the increase in rates was the minimum needed because of a $1.1 million operating loss last year. The current rates went into effect in October 1960.

In a day-long hearing Tuesday, Blue Cross executive director R. H. Dabney defended the proposed increase as the "minimum" necessary to keep the nonprofit, private insurance system on a sound financial footing.

Baltimore City solicitor Francis Burch and the Classified Municipal Employees Association of Baltimore, with about 7,000 members, opposed the increase. Attorney Hyman Pressman said he represented the opposition of 1,093 subscribers.

Blue Cross, also known as Maryland Hospital Service, had asked that the rates, applying mainly to the standard hospital care program of 30 days held by 305,000 policyholders covering 727,000 persons, take effect March 1.

Burch urged an investigation into the causes of "spiraling" hospital costs that lead to higher Blue Cross rates, blaming abuses of the system by subscribers and hospitals for much of the rising costs.

Burch suggested that state control over Blue Cross be turned over to the Public Service Commission with expanded powers to investigate hospital operations.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—When I talked with Suan Hayward, a few hours after her arrival in Hollywood, she told me she couldn't reveal a deal she's talking over with her favorite producer Walter Wanger—but she might have news for me soon.

Could that picture be the one Walter is preparing on the women's prison at Corona, (Cal.) Susan?

Walter has always had a weakness for movies about lady prisoners (including Susan's Oscar-winning "I Want To Live") and I understand he is preparing a woman's prison story to be the biggest and best yet.

I can also tell Irene Dunne and Claudette Colbert that Walter has his eye on them as well as Susan—plus five starlet actresses. It's definite that Phil Karlson, now making "Rampage," will direct.

Joseph Levine breezed into town and out again, getting here just for the premiere of "Long Day's Journey into Night." One appointment he did make was with Warren Beatty. They had a talk and there's a strong possibility that Warren will star in "The Carpetbaggers." The script will be finished in about a week, and after Warren reads it, if he likes it, he'll put his name on the dotted line.

Another thing Joe told me is that he has nine offices for his embassy pictures, and now releases his own productions. And he needs this at the rate he buys foreign-made films.

Actress France Nuyen told me that she will announce her engagement to Ralph Destino of New York on Jan. 9.

"I want to meet his family and he wants to meet mine," she said. "We met in New York two weeks ago when Ralph, who is of Italian descent, escorted me to the benefit for Boys Town of Italy."

France is back in Hollywood, but is the recipient of one or two long distance calls a day. She leaves for Honolulu in a few days for the premiere of "A Girl Named Tamiko," so she won't be seeing her handsome young man until after the holidays.

"I asked her about her weight problem and she said, "no problem now. It's well under control."

Of all the strange Christmas gifts—George Hamilton wants Carl Foreman to give him the wine cellar they're shooting now in London for "The Victors." The set is made up completely of wonderful old wine kegs, some made into chairs, and old, old wine bottles and casks.

"It would just be great for the cellar of the new house I bought in Beverly Hills," says George, who is the only star still working in the picture. The others have completed their roles and returned home. Hamilton still has several sequences to be shot in Germany before he is through.

P.S.: Don't tell him I said so, but Foreman is going to play Santa Claus and present him with the wine cellar Christmas Eve.

I don't see how it's possible for people as well known in Paris as Jean Pierre Aumont and Marissa Pavan to have secured a "secret" divorce in France. Of course, there have been rumors of trouble between these two for some time.

But one of my operators in Rome insists that Marissa has arrived there to make her permanent home and that temporarily she is living with her sister, Pier Angeli.

If the talk is true, it is very sad. I've never seen two people more in love than Jean Pierre and Marissa when they first met here in Hollywood.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Give Your Family A Radiant You

To insure your lustrous Christmas day appearance, plan now. As nothing prevents grooming slips and nerve-wracking scrambles like having all your clothes ready to slide into, decide what you'll wear for each festive occasion in and outside your home. Actually write your plan on a sheet of paper — and along with it, a list of any needed repairs.

Be especially vigilant about refurbishing all accessories — shoes, gloves, bags, hose, flowers, veils, scarves, jewelry, belts and trims of every sort.

Also make a place in your time budget from now until New Year's for the shampoos, sets and manicures that you anticipate needing. Since beauty shops are especially rushed during this period, make any appointments you need well in advance.

Be especially faithful to your nightly beauty routine to assure your greatest loveliness. However late the hour or great your fatigue, do not fail to cleanse and lubricate your face, pin up your locks, check and repair manicure flaws. Be generous in your use of body and hand lotions, renew deodorants, remove fuzz and lay aside clothes that need attention on the morrow.

Your day-to-day sparkle depends on such rites, so let nothing interfere with them. There's nothing like finding your appearance up to par to set your spirits skyrocketing! Then you can be sure that your eyes, smile and voice project the essence of the season.

"THIRTY DAYS TO CHARM" gives you a beauty hint for every day of the month. Follow it closely! Watch your charm rating go up! To get your copy send 10c and a stamped, return envelope to "Secrets of Charm," c/o this newspaper.

Aids To The Carver

You can aid the carver when a roast is the center of attention on the dinner table. One helpful hint is not to over-garnish the platter. Give the carver as much room as possible for his task. Remember to keep carving knives well sharpened.

School Sandwiches

For those children who carry their lunch to school, here is an excellent sandwich filling for the mid-day meal. Combine ½ cup ground corned beef with 1 teaspoon chopped sweet pickle relish. Add prepared mustard to taste and spread mixture between slices of rye or white bread.

Dried Beef

Dried beef (sometimes called chipped beef) makes a hearty main dish out of a baked macaroni and cheese casserole. If planning to serve creamed dried beef over toast for lunch, perhaps you'd like to prepare a cheese sauce rather than a regular white sauce.

Opening lead: Jack of ♣

Successful defense frequently hinges on an accurate appraisal of the declarer's plans as revealed by the line of play which he adopts. East came up with the right answer in today's hand, when he carefully analyzed the evidence before him.

When North raised to two spades, South's hand revalued to 13 points—counting one point for the fifth card of a supported suit—and his leap to game was therefore routine.

The jack of clubs was opened by West, covered by dummy's queen and taken by East's ace. The club return was won by declarer with the king, and he promptly led his singleton diamond. East captured dummy's king with the ace and, before making a return, he paused to consider the situation.

Everything that had transpired so far lent to the impression that South was contemplating a cross-ruff. East had both red suits under control, and the previous plays made it clear that West could take care of the clubs, so that there was no danger that the declarer could establish any side suit. South's early diamond lead marked him with a singleton, and the dummy was short in hearts and clubs. It becomes clear that declarer intends to secure his tricks by making his trumps separately.

So reasoning, East returned the three of spades. South held the trick with the jack, and he took the heart finesse next. East was in with the king of hearts and another trump cooked declarer's goose. He had already lost three tricks, and with only two spades left in the dummy he was unable to ruff away all of his losers. He managed to trump out one club and one heart, but in the end he was obliged to give up a heart for the setting trick.

If East does not shift to trumps after he wins the ace of diamonds, it will be too late, for one spade lead is not enough. Two rounds of trump must be played to avert a successful cross-ruff and, after the ace of diamonds is gone, East gets in only once more with the king of hearts.

Florida Sun Beams On Southern Dinner

Ham has been known to man for centuries in many varieties and in many parts of the world. One of the most popular of the ham varieties is that salty, smoky, pungent product of the Southern United States—the country ham. Possessing a true American heritage dating back to colonial times, the country ham is regarded by its fans as an unmatched work of culinary art.

Whether your preference is the delicious smoked or ready-to-eat whole ham, its proper tasty companion is another southern specialty—Florida orange juice. A luscious, piquant glaze is made with a whole can of undiluted fresh-frozen Florida orange juice concentrate, mustard and sugar, and brushed on the ham during the last forty-five minutes of baking time.

Holding to the southern accent, bake a casserole of hominy grits which have been pre-boiled in water, salt and Florida orange rind. The orange juice, butter and eggs are then added to the grits, and the casserole is then baked for almost an hour.

Orange-Glazed Ham

1 smoked or ready-to-eat whole ham (10-12 pounds)
Whole cloves
1 can (6 ounces) frozen Florida orange juice concentrate, undiluted
4 tablespoons prepared mustard
4 tablespoons granulated sugar

Place ham, fat side up, in shallow baking pan. Bake in a slow oven (325°F). If smoked, bake 18 to 20 minutes per pound, until meat thermometer registers 160° F. If ready-to-eat, bake 12 minutes per pound, or until meat registers 130°F. Take ham from oven 45 minutes before done; remove rind if necessary. Score fat surface and stud with cloves. Combine orange juice concentrate, mustard and sugar and brush part of mixture on ham. Continue baking, brushing frequently with remaining mixture.

Southern Grits Casserole

1½ cups grits
4 cups boiling water
1½ teaspoons salt
6 tablespoons butter or margarine
5 eggs, slightly beaten
1½ cups Florida orange juice
½ teaspoon grated Florida orange rind
Orange slices (to garnish)
Sugar

Pour grits into boiling water; add salt and orange rind. Stir grits constantly until mixture is thickened but not dry. Remove from heat; add margarine and orange juice, stirring until butter is well blended. Gently stir in eggs. Pour into 2½-quart casserole. Bake in 350°F. (moderate) oven 55 minutes or until knife comes out clean when inserted one inch from middle of casserole. Garnish with fresh slices of orange and sprinkle with sugar.

YIELD: 6 to 8 servings.

For A Quick Supper

Here's a suggestion for a quickly prepared meal. Cut luncheon meat into ¼-inch slices, then divide each slice into four strips. Dip the strips into a batter made of 1 tablespoon prepared mustard, 3 tablespoons flour, 1 beaten egg and 1 tablespoon vinegar. Fry the meat strips in hot lard until they are golden brown.

Ground Beef Is Intriguing In Roll Shape

Adventures in good cooking await homemakers who learn to use ground meats skillfully and with just a little ingenuity.

Try this intriguing Rolled Stuffed Meat Roll for a culinary delight. It's a meat roll with zesty bread stuffing inside and looks like a jelly roll when the slices are cut.

The ground beef mixture is shaped into a rectangle. Then the zesty stuffing — a combination of bread crumbs, mushrooms, parsley and seasonings—is spread over the meat mixture and the loaf is rolled lengthwise. Pressing the overlapping edge helps in holding its shape. Three slices of bacon give the finishing touch.

Stuffed Meat Roll

2 pounds ground beef
½ cup milk
1½ cups soft bread crumbs
2 teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
¼ cup chopped onion
2 eggs beaten
3 slices bacon

Stuffing

1 can (4 ounces) mushrooms, drained and chopped
1 tablespoon chopped onion
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1½ cups soft bread crumbs
½ teaspoon poultry seasoning
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon chopped parsley

Pour milk over 1½ cups bread crumbs. Add ground beef, salt, pepper, ¼ cup chopped onion and eggs. Mix thoroughly.

To make stuffing: Cook mushrooms and 1 teaspoon chopped onion in butter or margarine 5 minutes. Add bread crumbs, poultry seasoning, salt and parsley.

Place meat mixture on waxed paper and shape into an 8x14-inch rectangle. Spread stuffing over meat. Roll lengthwise as a jelly roll and press overlapping edge into roll. Place bacon strips, lengthwise, across top. Place on rack in open roasting pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) 1½ hours. 8 servings.

Box Lunch Shortcut

Prepare a batch of sandwiches at one time and freeze them for use in lunchboxes later on. You could do a week's supply of sandwiches, and they would be ready for quick insertion into both father's and the children's lunchboxes. Take them from the freezer in the early morning, and they'll be ready to eat by lunch time. Remember that hard cooked egg white, raw vegetables and mayonnaise do not freeze well.

Sherried Chess Tarts

(Serves 8)

½ cup butter or margarine
1 cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon each cinnamon, nutmeg and cloves
4 egg yolks, unbeaten
1 cup seedless raisins
1 cup walnuts or pecans
½ cup California Sherry
8 unbaked tart shells
Whipped cream or vanilla ice cream

Cream butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Blend in salt and spices. Add egg yolks one at a time, beating well after each addition. Rinse raisins with boiling water and drain well. Add raisins, walnuts and Sherry to creamed mixture; blend well. Spoon mixture into unbaked tart shells. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 40 minutes or until firm. Serve warm or cold, topped with either whipped cream or vanilla ice cream.

Date-Nut Sundae Sauce

(Makes about 2½ cups)

1 cup honey
½ cup water
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 cup sliced pitted dates
¼ teaspoon ground cinnamon
½ cup California Port, Muscatel, or other dessert wine
½ cup coarsely chopped walnuts

Bring honey and water to boil. Boil rapidly 12 minutes. Remove "foam" as mixture boils. Remove from heat. Add butter, dates and cinnamon. Cool. Add wine. Just before serving add nuts. Serve sauce hot.

Milk, Coffee, Beer

Beer ranks third, after milk and coffee, among popular American beverages. Soft drinks, tea, spirits and wine follow.

Cold Norway Sardines Will Aid Hostess, Too

There never seem to be enough hours in the day when the busy hostess is preparing to entertain guests. Aside from household chores, there's the problem of what to serve? Here's an answer to this dilemma, "cold Norway sardines gourmet." This savory dish, also ideal as a luncheon or supper dish, can be prepared hours before the guests arrive and stored in the refrigerator until serving time.

Ingredients

2 cups diced potato salad
1 can (3¾ oz.) Norway sardines
2 hard cooked eggs, cut in half lengthwise
4 whole canned red peppers (or pimento)
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1 lemon, pared and sliced
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
parsley bouquets

METHOD: Arrange the potato salad in a small oval dish. Open and drain the Norway sardines; place half the sardines on top in a criss-cross pattern. At each end and at both sides of the dish place half a hard cooked egg. Cover each egg half with a dab of mayonnaise. Arrange the whole red peppers (or pimento) in four small bouquets between each egg half and sprinkle with finely chopped parsley. Place slices of lemon in center and flank with 3 or 4 whole Norway sardines at each side. Chill and serve.

Rabbit Stew

1 rabbit (3-½ pounds)
1 cup red wine vinegar
1 cup red table wine
1 cup sliced onion
3 bay leaves
2 teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon clove
¼ teaspoon thyme
¾ teaspoon Tabasco
1 cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup shortening
1 cup water or stock
2 teaspoons sugar

Cut rabbit into serving pieces. Combine vinegar, wine, onion, bay leaves, salt, clove, thyme and Tabasco. Marinate 2 days if rabbit is fresh — about 5 hours if rabbit is frozen. Strain and reserve marinade. Combine flour and salt; coat rabbit parts. Heat shortening in large skillet; saute rabbit until brown on all sides. Drain fat. Add strained marinade and stock. Cover and simmer about 45 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add sugar. Serve with Marron Puree*, if desired.

Yield: 3 - 4 servings.

Pieful Of Popular Flavors: Pretty Coffee Banana Pie

As any woman knows, desserts are one of the most successful ways to show off her cooking prowess. In the first place, almost everyone loves the sweet flavor of desserts. And secondly, many desserts are pretty enough to draw admiring comments on their appearance.

Certainly this Coffee Banana Pie promises to be a huge success on both counts. It combines two tropical favorites—coffee and bananas. Besides, it is a picturesque pie, dressed up simply but elegantly with banana slices and a whipped cream puff. Best of all, Coffee Banana Pie demands no baking!

The best accompaniment for Coffee Banana Pie? Why, a pretty potful of fresh, hot coffee, of course!

Coffee Banana Pie

1 envelope unflavored gelatine
¼ cup cold water
1 package vanilla pudding mix (regular, not instant)
1 cup strong coffee
½ cup milk
2 medium bananas
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon sugar
1 teaspoon rum flavoring
1 cup whipping cream, divided
1 package lady fingers.

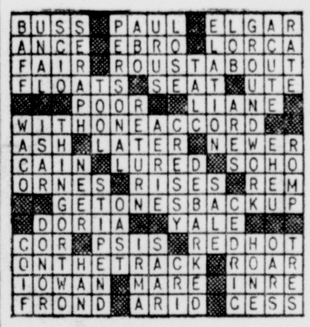

Soften gelatine in cold water. dissolve over hot water. Prepare pudding mix as directed on package, using coffee and milk as the liquid. Add dissolved gelatine to hot pudding; mix well. Put one banana, lemon juice and sugar in electric blender or food mill. Blend until liquified (about ½ cup). Add to pudding mixture with rum flavoring. Chill thoroughly. Beat until bubbly. Whip ½ cup cream and fold in. Line bottom of 9-inch pie pan with split lady fingers. Make a rim of split lady fingers around edge. Spoon filling carefully into pie pan. Chill until firm. Garnish with fluted slices from remaining banana and remaining cream, whipped.

Pork Chops Normandy

6 lean pork chops
Salt and pepper
¼ teaspoon mace
2 teaspoons grated orange rind
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
4 apples (Jonathans or Gravensteins are delicious here)
⅓ cup dry white wine (Chablis, Sauterne)
¾ cup cream

Sprinkle chops generously with salt and pepper. Rub in mace and orange rind. Brown lightly in 1 tablespoon of the butter. Spread rest of butter in 2-quart casserole. Peel, core, and cut apples into eighths. Put into casserole, top with chops and wine. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 35 to 40 minutes, until most of wine has evaporated and cooked into meat. Baste occasionally. Pour cream into dish around apples. Cook about 30 minutes longer, until chops are tender.

Answer To Previous Puzzle

About 99 per cent of the calcium in the human body is contained in bones and teeth.

Meat-Stuffed Potatoes

Slice tops off baked potatoes and remove the centers. Mash with milk and season with salt, pepper, paprika and butter or margarine. Mix with chopped, cooked meat. Refill shells, dot with butter or margarine and return to the oven to brown.

Italian Twist

When preparing spaghetti in sauce, add a little variety and substitute salami for the ground beef. Grind half of the salami and cut the other half in narrow strips. Sliced mushrooms are always a delightful addition to a spaghetti sauce, too.

Cooking Lamb Riblets

Stock up on fat-trimmed suggestions. Lamb riblets are delicious barbecued and served with rice, or they may also be used for lamb stew. The riblets are cut from the lamb breast. Approximately ½ pound is needed for each serving.

Value Of Meat

Remember that price does not determine the food value of meat. The less-demanded and more economical cuts offer just as many of the minerals, vitamins and proteins as do the more demanded cuts.

Beef Stew To Serve For Company

On a chilly evening when friends are invited in, a homespun supper will whet the appetities and warm the hearts of everyone. This is the time to bring out a steaming, aromatic pot of stew.

Yes, stews can be served for company meals, especially when they're as delicious as Party Beef Stew. Tender chunks of beef appear with potatoes, small onions, carrots, celery and mushrooms in a flavorful cooking liquid of tomato sauce and bouillion. Garlic and cloves provide the savory seasonings.

Boneless beef from the chuck is an economical dish. For variety, you could cut a 1½-inch thick round steak into cubes for the party stew.

Serve the stew in a large chafing dish or heavy serving dish to keep it hot. Fluffy white rice would be a nice accompaniment.

Party Beef Stew

- 2 pounds boneless beef, cut in 1½-inch pieces
- ¼ cup flour
- 2 teaspoons salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- 3 tablespoons lard or drippings
- 1 cup hot water
- 1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1 bouillon cube
- 3 whole cloves
- 8 small onions
- 8 medium potatoes
- 1 cup sliced celery
- 1 package (6 ounces) fresh mushrooms
- 8 medium carrots, cut in half

Combine flour, salt and pepper. Dredge meat in seasoned flour. Brown meat in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Add water, tomato sauce, garlic, bouillon cube and cloves. Cover tightly and cook in a slow oven (300 degrees F.)1½hours. Add onions potatoes, celery, mushrooms and carrots. Cover and continue cooking 2 to 2½ hours or until meat is tender and vegetables are done. 8 servings.

Butterscotch Pudding With Coffee Sauce

Pour into 4 sherbet glasses. Chill.

Combine and bring to full boil, over low heat, stirring constantly:

- ¼ c. sugar
- 1 tbs. butter
- 1 tbs. water
- 1 tbs. instant coffee

Pour hot over pudding just before serving.

- ½ cup sugar
- 1 egg, unbeaten
- 1 cup quick-cooking rolled oats
- 5 tablespoons frozen Florida orange juice concentrate, thawed, undiluted
- ¾ cup seedless raisins

Sift together flour, soda, salt and cinnamon. Cream shortening; gradually add sugar and beat until mixture is light. Add egg and beat well. Stir in rolled oats. Add sifted dry ingredients alternately with undiluted orange juice concentrate beating after each addition. Stir in raisins. Drop by teaspoons onto greased baking sheet. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 10 to 12 minutes.

Yield: About 4 dozen cookies.

Spanish Shrimp, Rice

Saffron rice, now available already seasoned, ready to cook, is delicious when served topped with shrimp cooked the Spanish way. Saute shelled, deveined shrimp a little powdered fennel or dried tarragon, a dash of cayenne pepper (very light!), and salt. Let a whole peeled garlic clove brown in the olive oil at the same time, but discard garlic. Toss cooked rice with butter and minced parsley, pile on a platter, top with the sauteed shrimp.

Concord Grape Pie And Plenty Of Steaming Coffee

Great, blue bunches of Concord grapes bloom in the markets and at roadside stands, come fall. If you are lucky enough to have a grape arbor of your own, then you can have the added joy of picking them fresh from the vines.

After you've eaten your fill of Concords, after you've made a big batch of grape conserve, what else can you do with these blue beauties? Make a grape pie—a Grape Crisscross Pie, to be precise! It is so delectable that, next fall, you'll start the grape season with this pie, first thing!

Pour a cup of hot, fragrant coffee to go with each wedge of this excellent pie. Coffee, after all, seems to be as much a part of fall as the haze from leaf fires or the Concord grapes themselves. So make your coffee fresh, full-bodied and full-flavored. And, after that, be sure you make enough for seconds all around!

Grape Crisscross Pie

- 4 cups fresh Concord grapes
- 2½ tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca
- 1 cup sugar
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- Pastry for two-crust 9-inch pie
- 1 tablespoon butter

Slip skins from grapes and set skins aside. Heat and stir skinned grapes in saucepan 3 to 4 minutes, then rub through a sieve to remove seeds. Combine pulp, skins, tapioca, sugar and salt. Let stand about 15 minutes. Roll half the pastry ⅛-inch thick. Line a 9-inch pie pan; trim pastry at edge of rim. Roll remaining pastry ⅛-inch thick and cut into 10 or 12 ½-inch strips. Fill pie shell with grape mixture. Dot with butter. Arrange pastry strips lattice fashion across top of pie. Press ends to edge of bottom crust. Bake at 425 degrees F. for 45 minutes, or until syrup boils with heavy bubbles that do not burst.

Tip For Roasting

When roasting a tender cut of meat in the oven, be sure to use a rack in the bottom of your roasting pan unless the bones form a natural rack as in a pork loin or beef rib roast. This allows the heat to circulate, and the meat won't cook in its own juices.

Creamy Orange Punch

- 2 cans (6 ounces each) frozen Florida orange juice concentrate, thawed, undiluted
- 1 quart vanilla ice cream
- 1 quart gingerale

Combine orange juice concentrate and vanilla ice cream; beat with electric or rotary beater until thoroughly blended. Blend in gingerale and serve in punch glasses.

Yield: 16 ½-cup servings.

When using blender:

- ½ cup frozen Florida orange juice concentrate, thawed, undiluted
- 1 cup vanilla ice cream
- 1 cup gingerale

Combine all ingredients in blender; blend until well mixed, about 10 seconds.

Yield: 4 ½-cup servings.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My Christmas present came early this year. It was from you. I refer to the letter about teenage girls back-combing their hair, torturing and teasing and spraying their lovely tresses until their hair looks like a deserted rat's nest.

Our own teenage daughter used to sleep on iron rods every night. She complained of headaches at least twice a week. Every evening she devoted approximately 45 minutes to rolling up her hair. In the morning it was another 45 minutes arranging the mop. Believe me, Ann, the time could have been better spent on her studies.

When your column appeared I said nothing. I knew she'd see it. She always does. The following Saturday she came bouncing into the house shouting, "Mother I have a surprise for you. How do you like me?"

Her hair was cut, brushed back, delightfully natural, refreshingly girlish and ever so much more attractive. Now my daughter has hair instead of hay, and you did it, Ann. I want to thank you from the bottom of my heart.—GRATEFUL MOTHER

Dear Mother: And you are welcome — from the bottom of mine.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm 24 and he is 29. We are engaged to be married in the Spring.

Something is troubling me. During my working years I've accumulated over $3,000 which I have invested in a mutual fund. When a woman marries should she change everything to joint ownership? He knows I have stock but has never made any suggestions. He has stock, too, but I don't know how much.

My fiance is sensible, mature and completely trustworthy. I'm inclined to want to hang on just a little of my financial independence. Is this wrong? I feel guilty. Perhaps I am looking at it from a single-girl point of view and need someone to shake some sense into my head. How about it?—HIGH HOPES

Dear High: In a first marriage, such as yours, I believe in joint ownership across the board. The more "ours" and the less "mine and thine" the better.

You and your fiance should frankly discuss what each of you owns and all holdings should be converted to joint ownership.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My wife drinks. I don't mean just at parties. She drinks at home, starting in the morning. The gin is in the mouthwash bottle.

Our oldest son is 11. He takes his mother's drinking as a matter of course. Last week he had a little friend in after school. The bok asked why his mother laughed so loud and talked so funny and kept saying the same things over. Our son replied, "She always acts like that when she's drunk."

My wife is an intelligent and fine person. Her mother was an accomplished musician and her father a distinguished attorney. I've tried to get her to see a doctor but she refuses. She says liquor makes her happy and relieves her of worry and tension. When I ask her what she is worried about she says she doesn't know.

I've suggested Alcoholics Anonymous but she says it wouldn't be dignified for a woman of her social standing to appear at an A.A. meeting. What can I do to help her?—D.

Dear D.: Alcoholism is democratic. It happens to people on all social levels. Perhaps your wife thinks it is more "dignified" to appear intoxicated before her children and their friends?

I suggest Al-Anon for you. This branch of A.A. helps members of the family learn how to live with an alcolohic and often this knowledge helps persuade the alcoholic to change his attitude about getting outside help.

W. Va. Tourist Attraction Plans Are Abandoned

West Virginia apparently will have to do without a new tourist center in the eastern portion of the state during the 1963 Centennial year.

State Natural Resources director Warden M. Lane said yesterday a $1.7 million grant from the Area Redevelopment Administration (APA) to help finance construction of such a center is still being held in abeyance.

The money was originally scheduled to be used to build a tourist and information center in the vicinity of the Navy's Sugar Grove radio-astronomy site in Pendleton County. However, the ARA delayed action on the grant after the Defense Department scrapped the multi-million dollar facility last summer.

The ARA said it would review the grant, pending final determination of what new use could be made of the Sugar Grove facility.

Lane said the state will have to await ARA decision on the grant before it can work on alternative locations for the proposed tourist center.

Lane said it is still possible the federal government may come up with some new use for the Sugar Grove facility that would restore its potential as a tourist attraction. But it is unlikely the tourist center would become a reality in time for the Centennial year.

Negotiations Begin For Liston-Johnson Title Fight In Baltimore

Civic Center Proposed Site Of March Bout

Champ's Advisor Denies Reports Of Return Match

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Representatives of Sonny Liston and Harold Johnson began negotiations Wednesday for Liston to defend his heavyweight crown against the light - heavyweight champion at Baltimore's Civic Center in mid-March.

Jack Nilon, Liston's millionaire advisor, disclosed the negotiations while denying persistent reports that Liston would defend in a return bout with ex-champion Floyd Patterson at Las Vegas, Nev., in April.

"On Monday I conferred with officials of Championship Sports in New York," Nilon explained. "They said Patterson wanted to fight Sonny in a return bout at Las Vegas under Championship Sports promotion.

Sonny Not Paid

"I told them there would be no fight under Championship Sports, and there would be no return bout with Patterson until we were ready - because Sonny hasn't been paid for the first Patterson fight."

Accordingly, Nilon continued, he and Pat Oliveiri, manager of light heavyweight champion Johnson of Philadelphia opened their negotiations Wednesday.

"Oliveiri told me that Johnson would be delighted to challenge for Sonny's title at Baltimore in mid-March," Nilon said, or any place else at any time. Of course Johnson's title wouldn't be at stake. Both will weight more than 175-pounds—naturally."

Johannson Mentioned

If Liston keeps his crown at Baltimore, as expected Nilon disclosed, he probably will make a defense against former heavyweight champion Ingemar Johannson at Goteborg, Sweden, in July —for a $1,000,000 guarantee from promoter Edwin Ahlqvist.

Nilon admitted the existence of a return-title-bout contract with Patterson, signed before their fight at Comiskey Park, Chicago, Sept. 25, when Sonny took Floyd's crown on a first-round knockout.

Braves Lead National League In Team Fielding For 1962

Milwaukee Club Also Has Three Individual Bests

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI)—The Milwaukee Braves were the National League's finest — in the field, anyway—during 1962.

Official fielding figures released by National League headquarters here Wednesday disclosed that the Braves not only led the circuit on defense with a team mark of .980 but also produced three individual leaders.

The Milwaukee leaders at their respective positions were first baseman Joe Adcock (since traded to Cleveland), second baseman Frank Bolling and catcher Del Crandall.

Adcock paced all NL first basemen for the third straight season and fourth time in his career with a .997 mark.

Bolling repeated as the top defensive second baseman with a .989 mark, and Crandall led all the catchers for the fourth time in his career with a .994 percentage.

Don Hoak, recently dealt to the Philadelphia Phillies by the Pittsburgh Pirates, posted a .969 average to lead the third basemen, while Jose Pagan of San Francisco had the highest mark among the shortstops, .973.

Tony Gonzalez of the Phillies handled 276 chances without an error for a 1.000 percentage that made him kingpin among the outfielders. Closest to him were Frank Robinson of Cincinnati with a .994 mark and Willie Mays of the Giants with a .991 average.

Dallas Green of the Phillies handled 45 chances without an error to lead all pitchers with a perfect 1.000 percentage.

Cincinnati Tops Ailing Syracuse

CINCINNATI (UPI) — The Cincinnati Royals caught Syracuse with starters Al Bianchi, Dave Gambee and Dolph Schayes all benched with injuries and defeated the Nats, 129-120, in a National Basketball Association game Wednesday night.

The Royals hit 12 of their first 16 floor shots to take a 28-11 lead after seven minutes of play and they managed to hold at least a portion of that margin the rest of the way. Cincinnati led at halftime, 65-44, and several times had a 24-point lead in the third quarter before Syracuse rallied to chop its deficit to nine points, 92-83.

Cincinnati cut off this threat with a 10-point streak at the start of the fourth quarter to run up a comfortable 107-90 margin. The victory moved the Royals within a game of second place Syracuse in the Eastern Division.

Lee Shaffer of the Nats and Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson shared game scoring honors with 32 points each. Hal Greer had 29 points for Syracuse.

Pitt To Clarify Status Of Coach

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — University of Pittsburgh Chancellor Dr. Edward Litchfield will make a statement next week "to clear the air" concerning the status of football coach John Michelosen.

Indications were that Michelosen would return to his post in 1963.

In a statement Tuesday night athletic director Frank Carver said he was not considering any change. He said a definite announcement would be made when Michelosen returns from Miami, Fla., where he is coaching the North squad in the North - South game Saturday.

Pitt fans and alumni became dissatisfied with the Panthers 5-5 record this season and claimed Michelosen turned out an "uninteresting football team."

JULIUS KESSLER COMPANY, LAWRENCEBURG, INDIANA. BLENDED WHISKEY. 86 PROOF. 72½% GRAIN NEUTRAL SPIRITS

Sport Talk with Troxell by Ted

WHEN JOHN ALLEN FIRST BEGAN playing basketball for Potomac State College several years ago, there were those who questioned his chances of ever making the grade with a major college team because of his seemingly frail composition.

The 6-6 stringbean from Fayetteville (W. Va.) erased most of these doubts during his brilliant two-year career with the Catamounts, but there were still some skeptics who wanted to see it to believe it.

Following his graduation from the Keyser institution in June, 1961, John enrolled at the University of Utah, a school that turns out top-ranking basketball teams year in and year out.

He soon showed that he could hold his own in that fast company. As a junior last season, Allen saw considerable action for a team which lost only three of 26 ball games, and won the championship of the Skyline Conference with a 13-1 record.

THE MAIN FACTOR IN UTAH'S SUCCESS last season was six-foot-nine All-American Billy (The Hill) McGill, who led the nation's scorers in 1962 with 1,009 points. The Hill was graduated and is now performing with the Chicago Zephyrs in the NBA.

This season Allen jumped right into a starting role and leads the team in rebounding through the first five games. He is also fourth in scoring on a club that is extremely evenly balanced in that statistical phase. At 180, John is a few pounds heavier now than when he was with the Catamounts.

Utah got off to a rather slow start this year, dropping its first two games to California (72-66) and Stanford (81-50). Since then, however, the Utes have won four in row over Los Angeles State, Gonzaga, Oklahoma City and South Dakota State.

ALLEN HAS BEEN A BIG MAN in the Salt Lake City school's recent success. In their 63-61 upset over Oklahoma City on December 10, he scored 11 points and played a particularly tough defensive game.

According to statistics released following the first five games, Allen was the club's top rebounder with 48, and scored 45 points for an average of nine per contest. Doug Moon paced the team in that department with 59 points and an 11.8 average.

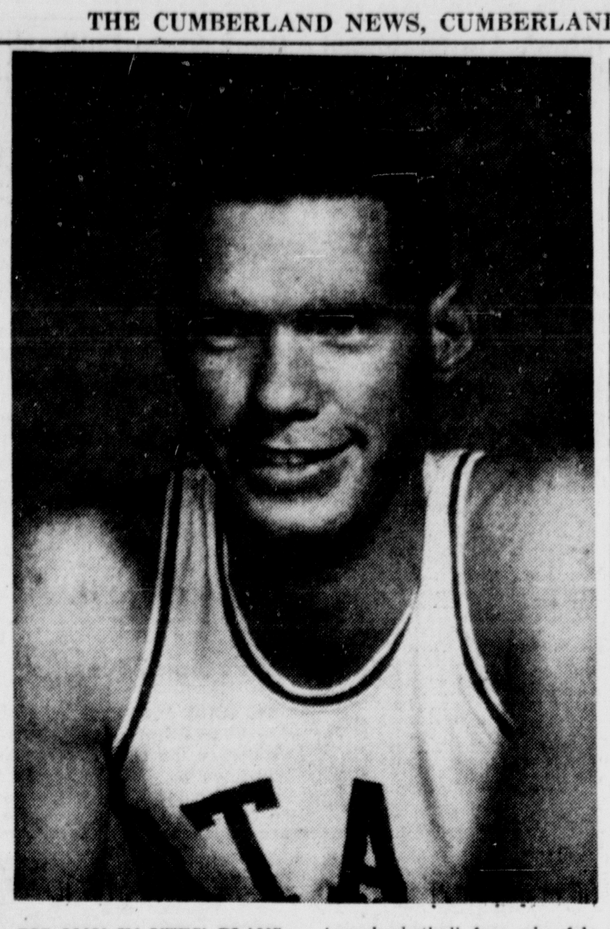

Not only has John been hitting the boards this year, he's also been doing a good job on the books. Majoring in the complex field of zoology, he's carrying a B average in his classroom work.

This, however, comes as no surprise to those who knew John when he was at Potomac State. In addition to being named to the dean's list every semester, he was a student leader and served as president of the Student Council in his sophomore year.

THE LATTER ACHIEVEMENT IS EVEN more remarkable because he made it while running on the independent ticket and had to buck fraternity opposition.

A release from the University of Utah's athletic news service says that Allen is being depended upon this year to provide some steadying experience for a youthful five.

He's the kind of athlete who is capable of instilling his own high ideals into his teammates. With this kind of leadership, the University of Utah has a good head start toward the championship of the Western Athletic Conference, successor to the now disbanded Skyline Conference.

BIG MAN IN UTES' PLANS — Area basketball fans who followed Potomac State's championship basketball teams of several years ago are sure to remember this big boy. He's John Allen, who led the Catamounts to the Tri-State Athletic Conference title in 1960, and this year hopes to help bring the Western Athletic Conference crown to the University of Utah. A regular for the Utes, the six-foot-six, 180-pounder from Fayetteville (W. Va.) leads the club in rebounding and is fourth in individual scoring (See "Sport Talk With Troxell")

Mickey Mantle Playing Golf To Strengthen Legs

Manager Houk Is Hoping MVP Won't Overdo It

By STEVE SNIDER
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mickey Mantle of the Yankees expects to spend most of the winter on a golf course strengthening his legs for another big drive in 1963 that could net him a record fourth most valuable player award.

Manager Ralph Houk secretly hopes Mick doesn't overdo it.

"But he's not exactly the type to take it easy," admits the Yankee skipper with a haunted look that creeps in among the twinkles in his eyes when he considers what would happen to Yankee pennant hopes if the Oklahoma kid cracks up.

For Mantle, up for 12 seasons and presumably a mature, 31, still acts occasionally like, well, an Oklahoma kid.

The great ones of the near past —Joe DiMaggio, Ted Williams, Bob Feller, Jackie Robinson and others—had a dignity, a manner or a sense of responsibility that set them apart from the crowd. But Mantle is just Mantle.

Imitates Boyer

After the American League season had ended with the Yanks on top as usual, there was a slight delay in the World Series start caused by the Dodger-Giant pennant playoff.

Houk was concerned at what the delay would do to the Yankee "edge" that might be lost while sitting around waiting to learn which club they'd be playing in the series. To keep 'em sharp, he called a full-scale rehearsal at Yankee stadium in which the pitchers were to go all out against the front-line hitters and all hands were supposed to be "battle serious."

While this was in progress, Houk suddenly noticed Mantle was playing third base. On balls hit to Mantle's left, no matter how easy a fielding try it was, the Mick stabbed it wildly with one hand, flopped on his stomach, rolled over in a somersault and clambered to his feet to peg to first.

"What's he doing?" Houk stormed.

"He's imitating Boyer's swan dive," grunted Yogi Berra. (Ken Boyer is the acrobatic Yankee regular at third who frequently makes "impossible" assists after falling to the ground.)

Mantle Unconcerned

Houk calmed down but he still wore that haunted look.

"Sometimes," he said quietly, "that guy scares me to death."

The only man in the ball park completely unconcerned about the state of Mantle's health was Mantle, himself.

He already had been through a tough year. Injuries had shelved him often and long. He got into only 123 games of a 162-game schedule but managed to belt 30 homers and drive in 89 runs on a batting average of .321.

For that, he later was voted the American League's MVP award for the third time—tying other three - time winners Stan Musial, Berra, DiMaggio, Jimmy Foxx and Roy Campanella.

At 31, there's still plenty of time for Mantle to make it No. 4. And at 31, there's still plenty of time for the Oklahoma kid to grow up. He has shown some improvement on that score lately.

You don't see him blowing up his bubble - gum in the outfield any more.

Clay-London Match Is Being Promoted

LONDON (AP)—A British vs. American heavyweight card, topped by a fight matching undefeated Cassius Clay of Louisville, and Brian London, former British champion, is in the works for Los Angeles in early March, promoter George Parnassus said Wednesday.

The Los Angeles matchmaker-promoter said he also was negotiating to bring over Joe Erskine, veteran Welshman and former British and European champion, and two rookie heavyweights, Billy Walker and Johnny Prescott.

British promoters Harry Levene and Laurie Lewis are working with Parnassus on the proposed show for either March 7 or 8.

Suit Asks NFL To Lift Blackout

Title Game TV Excludes Gotham

NEW YORK (UPI)—A suit was filed in federal court Wednesday asking the court to order the National Football League to lift the local television blackout of the league championship game here Dec. 30 between the Green Bay Packers and the New York Giants.

The suit asked a temporary injunction against a blackout of the game and a permanent injunction against any future local blackouts of NFL title games.

The suit was brought by Louis R. Blaich, Thomas O'Connell Jr., and Peter Sibell, all of Manhasset, N.Y., named as defendants were the National Broadcasting Company, which is handling the telecast of the game, the National Football League, and the Giants.

The defendants have five days in which to file an answer.

In the suit, the plaintiffs allege that the championship game at Yankee Stadium is a sellout and there is no other way for them to see the game except by television. Claiming that the local blackout of the game telecast violates anti-trust laws, they asked for an injunction to force lifting of the blackout.

Taylor Ends Brown's Reign As NFL Rushing Champ

Packer Fullback Also Wins League Scoring Crown

NEW YORK (AP)—Jim Taylor, Green Bay's driving fullback, became the third man in the history of the National Football League to double as both rushing champion and scoring leader.

Final statistics released Wednesday show Taylor, who ended Jimmy Brown's five-year reign as rushing champion, ground out 1,474 yards in 272 attempts.

Taylor also set a new NFL record by scoring 19 touchdowns and led the scorers with 114 points. Lou Michaels of Pittsburgh was next on 110 points that included 32 extra points and a record-breaking total of 26 field goals. Paul Hornung of Green Bay, scoring leader for three straight years, was out with injuries, and finished 11th with 74 points.

The only others to make the rushing-scoring double in the NFL were Steve Van Buren of Philadelphia in 1945 and Jimmy Brown of Cleveland in 1958.

Taylor's two titles, Bart Starr's passing supremacy and Willie Wood's feat of leading in interceptions with nine gave the Packers four of the eight individual crowns.

Bobby Mitchell, Washington flanker, was the top pass receiver with 72 for 1,384 yards, replacing Jim Phillips of Los Angeles, the 1961 leader, who finished fourth with 60 catches.

None of the New York Giants, who meet the Packers for the league title Dec. 30 at Yankee Stadium, led an individual department but Y.A. Tittle was second in passing. The passing is figured on a complicated basis with a passer getting one point for each placing in four categories — completion percentage, per cent of interceptions, average yards gained and touchdown passes.

Starr wound up with a total of 18 points by leading in completion percentage (62.5), and per cent of interceptions (3.2), a fourth in average yards per attempt (8.55) and a 12th in TDs (12). Tittle had 19 points on a first in TDs (33 for a record), a third in average yards (8.60), a sixth in per cent of interceptions (5.3) and a ninth in completion percentage (53.3).

Frank Gifford Works At Quarterback For Giants

Ailing New York QBs Watch Drill From Sidelines

NEW YORK (UPI)—Frank Gifford, a flanker, worked for more than an hour Wednesday at quarterback as the New York Giants began preparations for the National Football League championship game Dec. 30 against the Green Bay Packers.

Gifford led the drill, practicing handoffs and passing as both quarterbacks Y. A. Tittle and Ralph Guglielmi watched from the sidelines. Tittle and Guglielmi, injured in last Sunday's final regular season game with the Dallas Cowboys, dressed and stepped around the practice field.

Tittle threw a few passes but not during the drill. Guglielmi, who suffered a knee injury late in the Dallas game when he went in to replace Tittle, limited his workout to walks around Yankee Stadium.

Jack Stroud, offensive tackle who also was hurt in the Dallas game, worked with the team, although he didn't go all out. It was at first feared he had suffered cracked ribs, but the injury turned out to be more painful than serious.

The only players who did not suit up for the practice session were rookie halfback Paul Dudley and defensive halfback Dick Pesonen. Both took treatments in the clubhouse, Dudley for a banged up knee and Pesonen for an aching back.

Coach Allie Sherman said he hoped that both Tittle and Guglielmi would be ready to practice with the team by week's end.

"I'm real anxious to see both of them back in action," said Sherman. "There is nothing like a long layoff to hurt a quarterback's timing."

AFL Attendance Up 20 Per Cent

DALLAS (AP)—The American Football League showed an increase of 20.3 per cent in attendance—almost 4,000 fans a game more than last year.

The average was 21,481 with the 56 league games drawing 1,202,926 fans as compared to 1,000,216 in 1961. It was an increase of 202,710 — representing over a half-million dollars in revenue.

Six of the eight clubs averaged better than 20,000 for each home game. Houston led with 28,612. Buffalo had 27,922, Denver 25,059, Dallas 22,143, San Diego 21,992 and Boston 21,518.

The progressive attendance average for league games since the AFL started three seasons ago: 1960 — 16,558, 1962—17,857, 1962—21,481.

Dick Williams, the utility man, recently acquired by the Red Sox from Houston, has played every position in baseball.

Tittle Winner Of Hickok Poll For November

Clay Is Second, Don Carter Third

NEW YORK (UPI)—Y.A. Tittle, the record-breaking New York Giants quarterback, Tuesday was named winner of the November poll for the 13th annual S. Rae Hickok "professional athlete of the year" award.

Tittle, who led the Giants to the National Football League's Eastern Division title the last two seasons, thus joined Wilt Chamberlain, Arnold Palmer, Glenn Roberts, Rodger Ward, Sandy Koufax, Don Drysdale, Jack Sanford, Jack Kralick, and Ralph Terry as previous monthly winners in quest of the $10,000 diamond-studded gold-buckled belt that goes outright to the ultimate winner.

Tittle won the November poll by a comfortable margin, drawing 38 first-place votes and 177 points. Cassius Clay, who upset Archie Moore, was second with 22 first and 138 points and bowler Don Carter was third with 23 firsts and 116 points.

Jim Taylor of the Green Bay Packers, Chamberlain, jockey Ron Ferraro, and football players Roger Brown, Don Chandler and Alex Webster rounded out the top 10 athletes named.

The yearly award will be announced at the press-radio club charity dinner in Rochester, N.Y. Jan. 21.

California Seeks WBA Membership

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI)—The California Athletic Commission has applied for membership in the World Boxing Association (WBA), Gov. Edmund G. Brown said Wednesday.

The governor said that "while it was the commission's decision, I wholeheartedly concur.

"Boxing is a national sport. Its regulation must be interstate as well as intrastate. California's reentering the WBA will permit it to achieve more effective regulation than ever before," the governor said.

The commission renounced the WBA's predecessor, the National Boxing Association, in 1960.

Buying Wave Wipes Out Earlier Losses In Market

By ED MORSE

AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Late demand for blue chips—featured by a new all-time high for General Motors — accompanied a sharp stock market rally Wednesday which more than wiped out losses taken in this week's preceding sessions.

Volume rose to 4 million shares for the first time in more than a week, compared with Tuesday's 3.62 million.

Wall Street apparently went through some deep thinking Wednesday because stocks were lower at the opening, improved just enough to show an irregular pattern by midsession, then rose gradually until the closing minutes when a buying wave pushed the list to its best level of the day.

The Dow Jones industrial average advanced 6.86 to 647.00.

Motors and scattered issues of investment quality did pretty well from the start even when the overall list was wobbly.

Brokers said demand for blue chips spread as the session wore on. They noted that the spate of tax-loss selling which upset the market during the previous session seemed to have dried up. New buying came in as the market seemed reluctant to give any more ground.

Auto industry news has been consistently good, said Wall Streeters. GM topped its previous record of 58⅞ set in 1959 by advancing 1⅝ to close at a new historic top of 59½.

Ability of the stock of the nation's biggest manufacturer to enjoy a private bull market of its own was a tonic for the list.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 1.5 to 240.8 with industrials up 3.2, rails up 4, and utilities up .1.

Of 1,285 issues traded, 624 advanced and 390 declined. New highs for the year totaled 14 and new lows three.

After the close, the New York Stock Exchange announced that the monthly short interest total had fallen 382,033 shares to 6,476,135 shares from the record total of a month ago. This is the total of shares borrowed to effect short sales of stock, made in the hope that the prices will decline.. The higher the short interest, the more of a buying cushion there is under future markets as the borrowed shares must be repaid eventually.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were mixed on volume of 1.2 million shares compared with 1.15 million Tuesday.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. government bonds were unchanged to slightly lower in quiet trading.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Soybeans were weak, but other grain futures rallied from an early decline to close mostly mixed on Wednesday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Wheat finished off ⅛ to up ⅝, corn off ¼ to ⅝, oats unchanged to up 1⅛, rye off ½ to up 1⅛ and soybeans unchanged to off 1¼.

Early selling reflected larger than expected estimates of 1962 corn, rye and soybean production in a government crop report issued late Tuesday.

Soybeans were weakest with losses ranging to around 1½ cents a bushel. Meal and oil were also under pressure, and indications that a dock strike may be resumed on Monday added to bearish sentiment.

Wheat prices opened firm on commercial buying. Later commission sales eased some prices briefly, but the market was helped by small receipts light hedge selling and export business. Japan purchased 710,000 bushels of white wheat.

Local traders led the early selling in corn, while commission houses were on the buying side. Spot corn showed less strength than in recent days.

Nearby oats and rye rallied sharply in late trading.

Offerings of both grains were small.

News of a record November crush and several large export sales had little rallying influence on soybeans. Formosa reportedly bought 2,050,000 bushels and Japan 370,000 bushels. Traders were further disturbed by talk that the Minneapolis and Evanston government offices were selling beans.

Outside markets were mostly lower.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of William "Hamey" Atkinson who died 2 years ago today, December 20, 1960.
The blow was sudden, the shock severe,
To part with one we loved so dear.
Your loving heart had ceased to beat,
Your stay on earth was done.
Our hearts still ache with loneliness,
Our eyes shed many tears,
God alone knows how much we miss you,
And will through all the years.
Your departure so sudden, all were confused,
We know you are waiting on that great celestial shore.
One by one we will join you,
Until your waiting shall be no more.
It is hard to understand why things must be,
But there is a reason for it all beyond our power to see.
God gave us strength to bear it,
And courage to fight the blow,
But what it meant to lose you,
No one will ever know.
WIFE AND CHILDREN

In loving memory of our husband and father Ralph Knippenberg who passed away Dec. 20, 1957.
Thinking, today — thinking,
Longing, dear Dad for you—
Wishing the skies would open,
Just for a glimpse of you.
Watch over us from above, dear Dad,
Protect us here below.
Guide us always in the path
As you would want us to go.
Take our hands when days are dark,
Comfort us when we cry,
Walk with us in this weary life,
Always by our side.
Sadly missed by his wife Anna Knippenberg and daughters:
Marie, Dorothy, Harriett and Shirley

Sewerage Study Unit Is Slated

Report Asked In 30 Days

The Allegany County Commissioners on Friday will appoint a committee charged with working out a feasible solution to this county's sewage problems.

Plans for the committee were announced by Louis V. Shinnamon, president of the county unit, at a meeting called in City Hall yesterday by the State Health Department.

Mr. Shinnamon said the committee will be asked to submit its report within 30 days and that membership, which will possibly total seven, will represent various groups which are working toward a solution of the county's sewage problems.

He indicated the committee will represent such groups as the City-County Water-Sewage Commission, the Allegany County Sanitary Commission, the LaVale Sanitary Commission, the City of Cumberland and a consultant.

Health Board Backs

He said the plan was adopted at a meeting of the Board of Health, held at the Cumberland Country Club after various proposals were discussed.

The Health Board meeting was a lengthy one and the meeting called at City Hall by Dr. Perry F. Prather, director of the State Health Department, did not begin until after 2 p. m.

At least 60 persons, most of them invited by the Health Department, attended the meeting.

Dr. Prather said the meeting was asked to reconcile some of the problems facing the county.

The state, said Robert M. Brown, another member of Dr. Prather's staff, is concerned over the possibility that discussions of a county-wide plan could delay the sewage treatment program.

The state, he said, is prepared to insist that progress be made, since delay would cost the county state and federal funds.

He said differences which exist, if any, are on procedure."

Mr. Brown said the state is in favor of the "least possible sewage treatment plants" discharging effluent into streams but that if that is not possible, plans must proceed on the basis of additional plants.

For this reason, he said, the state wants specific plans before any decisions are made.

Demands Progress

"There must be progress," he stressed, since existing obligations must be met.

Senator-Elect George R. Hughes Jr. asked Mr. Shinnamon for additional details of the plan to be worked out by the upcoming committee and was told the unit will put its proposal "down in black and white" and will have an answer to give to each unit.

"Are you talking of delay?" queried Chester A. Fisher, chairman of the LaVale Sanitary Commission, saying the commission has lost at least $100,000 of state aid from the existing delay and could lose another $200,000.

"We are not going to delay any program," replied Thomas Shives, of the Sanitary Engineering unit of the Health Department. But he said nobody has come up with a feasible answer.

Sanitary Unit Adopts Sewage Plan Report

Cost Of System Set At $9,155,000

A report indicating it would cast $9,155,000 to set up a county sewerage system — $3,150,000 more than was estimated by the City-County Water-Sewage Committee — was adopted yesterday by the Allegany County Sanitary Commission.

Shortly after adoption yesterday morning, the report was sent to the Allegany County Commissioners, the State Health Department and interested parties.

It said the County Commissioners must decide on what debt obligations the county should incur over the next 15 years.

The report, prepared by Matz, Childs & Associates, consulting engineers for the commission, said the present program of the commission is to create sanitary districts to serve populous areas, using the Cumberland and Westernport plants whenever economically feasible.

"It is not the intent of the Sanitary Commission," the report said," to construct duplicate facilities nor to provide treatment plants indiscriminately," adding:

"Working within the framework of the Sanitary District Act of 1957, the Allegany County Sanitary Commission has the authority and capability to provide needed sewerage facilities for Allegany County, either on a county-wide basis or by the creation of individual sanitary districts.

The report, signed for the engineering firm by Leonard M. Glass, follows:

Cites Effects

"During recent weeks there have been many articles in the City of Cumberland newspapers concerning the creation of a City-County Sewerage Authority. A review of the newspaper articles indicates that the original proposal, as outlined by the City-County Sewerage Committee on November 7, 1962, has materially changed and has been modified from day to day as new facts were learned concerning those items that were subsequently proved impractical or omitted from the original report of the Committee.

"Since the proposal of the City-County Sewerage Committee has been given a great deal of publicity, will have far-reaching effects on the financial structure of Allegany County, and will maternally effect those projects now proposed by the Allegany County and LaVale Sanitary Commissions, careful consideration must be given to any change in the present sewerage program for Allegany County. In order to aid the County Commissioners and those charged with responsibility in this matter, we have endeavored to present briefly, for your use as you see fit, some of the engineering and financial aspects of the proposed City-County Committee program.

"The original program of the City - County Committee proposed the immediate creation of an "Authority," with the dissolving of the LaVale Sanitary Commission and the Allegany County Sanitary Commission. Subsequent statements by the City - County Committee would now retain these bodies until such time as the City-County Authority was ready to go into operation. However, it has been stated that while these bodies were to function, they were not to construct sewage treatment plants. If this were to be done, it would mean the same building restrictions would be imposed upon the areas served by the LaVale and Allegany County Sanitary Commissions as are presently in effect. Thus, for the period of time it would take the City-County Committee to become established, sewerage problems would continue in the heavily developed areas of Allegany County.

Says Study Needed

"The preparation of an engineering report on County sewerage facilities is of utmost importance. Although reports have been written for Frostburg, the Georges Creek Valley, LaVale, Cresaptown, and the Bowling Green area, these reports were written for specific areas and leave many areas uncovered, with no program of construction at this time. No reports are available for the Jennings Run Basin, Ellerslie, Eckhart Mines, and other areas. Until engineering and financial studies are made, no program of construction on a county - wide basis should be attempted. Harford and Carroll Counties have had county-wide reports prepared after which many legal questions concerning the incorporated communities have arisen.

"The preparation of a County-wide sewerage report would re-

Chanuko Begins Friday

The eight-day Jewish holiday of Chanuko, the Festival of Lights, will be observed by Jews throughout the world beginning at sundown, December 21.

The holiday marks the Jewish observance commemorating the first recorded struggle for religious freedom. As candles are lit each evening, Jews recollect the battle waged by Judah Maccabee and his followers against the tyrannical oppression of the Syrians and their ruler, King Antiochus. This tyrant, over two thousand years ago, tried to force paganism and hedonism on the Jews and desecrated the Temple in Jerusalem.

After a fierce struggle and numerous battles in which the Syrians utilized elephants, Judah Maccabee recaptured the Temple in Jerusalem, cleansed it, and rededicated it. According to legend, a cruse of oil containing sufficient fluid to light the menorah (candelabrum) in the Temple for one day lasted instead for eight. Thus Chanuko became the Festival of Lights; the Hebrew word "Chanuko" means dedication.

Candles are lit every night of the holiday, beginning with one on the first night, two on the second, until finally eight candles blaze in a special Chanuko menorah. The holiday is celebrated with special services, prayers and hymns, in synagogues, homes and religious schools.

Children receive presents or Chanuko "gelt" (coins or money) for the holiday from their parents and relatives on each day of Chanuko.

Chanuko is known as the "Festival of Lights" and also as the "Days of Rededication." Its universal theme — the fight for religious freedom — has echoes in human history, particularly in the civilization of the western world.

Tawes Cites Advantages For Space Industry

State Ranks 8th In Defense Contracts

BALTIMORE (AP) — Gov. Tawes said Wednesday night that Maryland has made an all-out effort to exploit the advantages the state holds for science-based industries.

The governor listed, as advantages, the state's educational recreational and cultural facilities, its proximity to Washington and its accessibility to the markets of the country.

He said Maryland has done well in competing with the other states for research and development contracts.

"The latest available information indicates that Maryland ranks eighth among the 50 states in receiving government contracts for space research and defense, with a tremendous $211.6 million," Tawes said.

"For a three-year period ending June 30, 1963, it is estimated that the National Aeronautics and Space Administration will have placed prime contracts of over $280 million in Maryland."

Tawes gave a report on the industrial growth of the state in a speech prepared for a meeting of the Purchasing Agents Association of Baltimore.

"Maryland, with seven, leads the nation in the number of research park facilities, and is recognized as one of the five dominant science centers in the entire United States," said the governor.

"Maryland is also one of the 10 leading states which receive more than half of all United States military base payroll monies. In 1961, this additional wealth was estimated at $435 million."

Tawes said the state must not rest on its record of scientific accomplishments because the federal government and private industry "seeks the best brains and goes where they are."

"For this reason, we must spare no effort, through education and otherwise, to retain our advantageous position and remain in the competitive forefront, for science-based and other types of business."

The governor said there are many indicators which point to the economic soundness of the state and "there is every indication of a continuing upward swing in a booming economy."

Potomac Edison Reports Sales Up 11 Per Cent

President Reports To Firm Directors

At 1962 draws to a close, business activity in this area continues at a high level President Robert G. MacDonald told the Potomac Edison Company's board of directors yesterday in Frederick.

Sales of electricity for the first 11 months of 1962 have increased 11 percent over the same period of last year and total electric revenues through November are up eight percent, Mr. MacDonald reported.

Industrial sales to Potomac Edison customers represented the largest gain, according to the utility president's report, registering a 15 percent improvement. He pointed out that all phases of industrial activity are showing improvement over the first 11 months of last year, with fabricated products, textiles, wood products, paper and printing, ceramics and chemicals recording better than average gains.

Residential Sales Up

While industrial sales of electricity show the largest percentage of improvement, Mr. MacDonald reported substantial improvements in sales to residential and commercial customers also. In the residential class, a gain of seven percent has been recorded through November and for the same period, sales to commercial customers are up nine percent.

The unusually cold weather experienced in December has produced greater requirements for electric energy from domestic and commercial customers, Mr. MacDonald told the board. As a result, Potomac Edison established a series of new record high peaks during the final quarter. On December 13 a combination of cold weather and high residential and commercial pre-Christmas usage produced a record 394,000 kilowatt hourly peak, and a corresponding 24 hour record of 7,487,000 kilowatts.

This was in contrast, he continued, with the weather patterns of a relatively cool summer and warm early fall which did not encourage increased use of electricity.

$350 Million Program

Mr. MacDonald also reported on Potomac Edison's participation in the $350 million coordinated construction program recently announced by 18 investor-owned electric utilities. This program calls for construction by these companies of two major power plants and over 600 miles of extra-high voltage transmission line.

He further reported on the series of interconnections between Potomac Edison and adjoining electric utility systems that went into service on November 1. As a result of these and other interconnections, major utility systems from the Atlantic Coast west to the Rockies and from Canada to the Gulf of Mexico are now interconnected into one sychronized system, Mr. MacDonald said.

"Major technological developments such as these are examples of the utility industry's continuing accomplishment in meeting its challenge to find newer, more economical, and more reliable methods of producing and delivering electric power to its customers," he concluded.

Members of the board who were present included Owen E. Hitchins of Cumberland.

Salvation Army Kettle Needs $600 Each Day

Major Ben Jones, commanding officer of the Salvation Army here, said last night that collections at the army's Christmas Cheer Kettle on Baltimore Street will have to average better than $600 a day during the final five days of solicitation if the goal of $5,500 is to be reached.

Collections through Tuesday night had reached almost $2,300. He did not have a report on the success of the Cumberland Optimist Club's efforts at the kettle yesterday.

Today members of the Cumberland Kiwanis Club will man the kettle. Tomorrow the Cumberland Lions Club will be on the job and Saturday will be the Cumberland Rotary Club's day. On Christmas Eve, Lewis J. Ort, a life member of the Salvation Army Advisory Board, and Major Jones will be on the job at the kettle.

Members of the Advisory Board and the Shrine wrecking crew will gather at the Citadel Saturday afternoon to pack baskets for deserving families.
